U.S. FAMINE AID TO BE ACCEPTED BY THE SOVIET

The Lenine Administration Has Agreed to Release American Prisoners

TRADE MIGHT REOPEN

Senator France Is Back in Riga After Seeing Both Lenine and Trotzky

RIGA, July 31 (Associated Press). Soviet Russia has agreed to release American prisoners and to accept famine aid from the American relief association. Just at the moment Senator Joseph I. France, of Maryland, has returned here from Moscow determined to advocate renewals of trade relations and perhaps diplomatic relations between Russia and the United States and bringing with him one of the prisoners, Mrs. Marguerite E. Harrison, of Boston, who was freed by his efforts.

Senator France, who entered Russia skeptical of the advantage of immediate diplomatic relations with the Soviets, but believing trade relations were advisable has returned an enthusiast for both.

New Development Started.

Senator France declares that the Lenine government was starting a new line of development in Russia which "cannot backslide into radical communism." Asked whether the Moskow Bolsheviki were trying to revolutionize the world, Senator France said:

"I know nothing about the Third Internationale. But no man worthy of any attention ever believed propagada could start revolutions. Conditions are not propaganda, history shows."

The senator talked with both Lenine and Trotzky and was impressed by them.

"I found that the Russian government is handling the situation in a statesmanlike way," he said. Lenine is much interested in American relations. Russian factories have not all ceased operating—many are working well. They are short of raw material. Farms are prosperous where they are not in the famine aid drought belt."

The senator mentioned furs as a possible product of trade with the United States, and asserted there would be plenty of exports when factories were equipped and agricultural needs were supplied from abroad. He thought a commission of United States experts would be welcomed, but contended that Russia should have the right to send one to America.

"I am convinced Russia will carry out any guarantee or concessions made in return for credit," he declared.

LOCAL PAPER IS NO LONGER "VETS" ORGAN

Support for Western Veteran Is Withdrawn at Meeting on Sunday

That the weekly publication, "The Western Veteran," is no longer the official organ of the Edmonton local of the Great War Veterans' association, and that the soldiers' organisation wishes the public of this city to know of the fact. This was the emphatic pronouncement of Great War Veterans at their general monthly meeting held in the Memorial Hall, on Sunday afternoon.

Dr. H. L. Collins moved a resolution, seconded by Colonel McDonell, and approved unanimously, that the fact be made known that the Western Veteran is no longer the organ of the vets' association; that the association receives no financial recognition from the Western Veteran and, that Edmonton Great War Veterans' organisation is not responsible for the publication of any article in the paper's columns.

The action taken follows the publication in The Western Veteran of several articles deemed to be harmful to the local soldiers' organisation, and also to its President, W. A. Irwin.

It was the opinion of the meeting, as expressed by Colonel McDonell and by Dr. H. L. Collins, that the G.W.V.A. should not permit for one moment the casting of aspersions against the personal qualities of the chair. The meeting accordingly passed a vote of confidence in the present president of the G.W.V.A.

Much administrative work was accomplished at Sunday's G.W.V.A. meeting. Comrade A. Mason gave an exhaustive report in regard to the recent labor conference held at the government buildings for the purpose of discussing the unemployment problem. While the conference was considered a success, it was the opinion of Mr. Mason that the change in government as a result of the recent election would mean a delay in action. It was the hope, however, of all veterans, that the new government would give its full and immediate consideration to the unemployment problem, considered to be very serious at this time.

Mr. H. Greenfield, premier-elect, was present at the deliberations of the conference during the submission of the resolution committee at the afternoon session.

Dr. Collins presented a report telling of the work accomplished at the Great War Veterans' conference conducted in Ottawa and recorded the great protest made by T. Dace at the conference in reference to the postponement of the dominion convention which should have been held in Port Arthur at the beginning of July.

The suggested disposition of canteen funds was explained by Comrade Collins. It is understood that this matter will be taken up fully when the deferred conference meets.

Comrade Sievewright moved a resolution that the incoming government be requested to follow the lines of the Stewart administration in giving preference to veterans in all questions of civil and other appointments.

Alberta Crop as a Whole Is Less By 10 to 30 Per Cent. Than 1920; Cutting Will Start August 15th

Farmers in South Are Already Binding Their Rye and Threshing Will Start This Week—Unemployed About Calgary Expected to Fill Full Demand for Harvest Labor

CALGARY, July 31.—Farmers in southern Alberta are now cutting rye and will start some time this week threshing their grain. Harvesting will become general in southern Alberta about August 15, and in some places farmers will be cutting wheat on August 10, particularly where the crops are very good.

Where heavier crops have been raised, in central and northern Alberta, cutting will be general August 15 to August 20. Alberta's crop will be about twenty per cent. less than that of last year in the south and about ten per cent. lower in central and northern parts.

The local unemployed will be able to fill demands for extra harvest workers, and it is considered very improbable that work will be available for outside men even from British Columbia. Grazing and feed prospects have been slightly improved by recent rains, heavy rains falling in many parts on Sunday.

Manitoba Situation

WINNIPEG, July 31.—(Canadian Press)—The crop in Manitoba is coming along very fast and cutting will be general south of the Canadian Pacific railway line about Wednesday, J. H. Evans, deputy minister of agriculture, told the Canadian Press today. Further north it will be a week or ten days before cutting commences, Mr. Evans said.

Although Mr. Evans does not expect a very strong crop in Manitoba this year, he said that the yield will reach the premier average. Hot weather, he said, has cut down the yield considerably and even in districts where there has been plenty of moisture, the intense heat which prevailed this summer has reduced the yield. In addition to the drought, he said, there has been more hail in Manitoba this summer than ordinarily.

In some districts cutting is very slow, Mr. Evans said, but taking conditions on the whole, the crop is coming along "very, very fast."

"These are the conditions as I see them, and the crop will satisfy us all," he concluded.

Good Yield Near Saskatoon

SASKATOON, July 31.—Damp, cool weather during the past week has promoted filling of the wheat heads. In many places the grain was beginning to ripen prematurely in the hot dry weather of the preceding week. Prospects for a good yield in this district are excellent. For the first time in several years there will be a good crop on light lands and the general average for the entire Saskatoon area will closely approach that of 1915. Nearly an inch of rain fell in Saskatoon and district today. No rust, cutworm or saw fly damage has been reported in this district. To the south and west there was some damage by grasshoppers, but strenuous measures taken by the municipalities and government checked the pest in its early stages.

Early Harvest in Manitoba

WINNIJEG, July 31.—Harvesting is erpected to be general in southern Manitoba by the middle of this week and in southern Saskatchewan a week or so later, according to information received here tonight. In northern Alberta cutting is not expected to start for another two weeks.

Throughout the prarie provinces optimism still prevails that the 1921 crop will be at least an average one. No need of rain is reported and the weather conditions appear to be perfect for filling.

Reports from Saskatoon and Edmonton were particularly optimistic, both districts anticipating a big yield. Regina district expects an average crop, and Manitoba as a whole will reap enough "to satisfy all" to quote the deputy minister of agriculture.

REGINA, July 31—Harvesting is expected to become general in the Regina district about August 10 although cutting has commenced in a few districts. Prospects still augur for a an average crop.

BOLSHEVIKI ARE IN REAL PANIC ABOUT FAMINE

Cholera Epidemic Comes Along with Food Shortage—Riots Already Started

(Wireless from Berlin to New York Tribune by Joseph Shaplin.)

BERLIN, July 31.For the first time in its history a real panic has overwhelmed the Moscow Bolshevik government, as it faces a gigantic famine in Russia, combined with a severe cholera epidemic. Famine and cholera have already broken out in many cities and villages, and are raging on a vast scale. Punitive expeditions to one place and another in a desperate effort to restore order and control these outbursts of popular despair.

The gravest danger facing the Moscow government is the lack of food for the Red Guards, as well as for the army as a whole. sA a result of this shortage military revolts are already beginning. In the most recent uprising of this kind the Pastlovsk regiment at Petrograd mutinied and caused the greatest difficulty.

With the naming of Leon Trotsky as food dictator there now arises the possibility of the establishment of a pure military dictatorship, headed by Trotzky, with the inevitable renewal of terrorism on a wholesale scale. The launching of a merciless terror wave by the Reds, such as they once used to crush opposition, might now again be employed to halt the on-march of rebellion.

One result of the famine so far as Germany is concerned is the postponement of the departure for Russia of the proposed German trade commission. The Berlin Foreign Office, in announcing the cancellation of the trip, said that it would be postponed indefinitely on account of famine.

CANADA'S GREAT PROBLEM TODAY IS RAILROADS

Parliament and People Must Have Full Information of Expenditure

HAMILTON, July 31.—(Canadian Press)—Canada's greatest problem today is her railways and that can only be solved when parliament and the people are permitted the fullest possible information as to the expenditure of every dollar of public funds on this project, declared Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, leader of the Liberal party here last night. The railway situation was the very crux of the financial situation of the dominion, and failing its satisfactory solution, Canadians would look in vain for any lessening of the national debt or any substantial reduction of taxation.

The railway problem today was an outgrowth of the combination of political and industrial interests which had been controlling Canadian affairs for the past few years, Mr. King declared. If it were permitted to continue ,it would bring the nation to bankruptcy.

The transfer of the immense industry from private to public ownership had taken place without consultation of the people, though the people had to foot all the bills. When the government decided to take over the railways it was its clear duty to have dissolved parliament and gone to the people for an expression of their opinion on the policy. The merchant marine project had also been carried through without reference to the people. The original appropriation was by order-in-council and contracts were let without tenders being called, Parliament was called upon to vote the money for obligations already entered into.

There could be no solution of the railway problem until the combination of political and industrial forces now in control at Ottawa was broken up by the people at a general election. That it would be broken up, when the people voted, was certain. Publicity and honesty was needed in Canadian public affairs today, and the one was not to be expected without the other.

Setting out from Lausanne, he rose to a great height and ultimately effected a landing on the mountain peak 15,782 feet above sea level.

New York Is Suffering From Oppressive Heat; Four Drown at Beaches

NEW YORK, July 31. — Four drownings occurred at the beaches in this vicinity today, the sixth day of oppressive heat from which thunder storms brought little relief.. The thermometer rose from 75 degrees shortly after daylight to 86 at 2 p.m.

The heat average today stood six degrees higher than the average on the same date for the past 33 years.

NORTHCLIFFE IS ANXIOUS TO FORGET CLASH

Irritated When Toronto Reporters Asked Him for News About Subject

STUDYING IMMIGRATION

Wants to Find Out Chances for British People Who Would Come Here

TORONTO, July 31—Lord Northcliffe, the British publisher on his arrival here this morning from New York en route westward on his world tour, betrayed slight irritation when asked whether he had anything further to say regarding his clash with Premier Lloyd George and the New York interview, in fhich the King's name was used.

"That is a closed incident," said His Lordship, "and it was so stated in the United States papers two days ago. The Americans say your papers here are a week behind them, but I would not say that."

He was shown extracts of editorial comment in London papers suggesting that his lordships mind was over-strained and that he required the services of a doctor. He read the items hurriedly but offered no comment and seemed anxious to drop the subject.

"I am in Canada to look into the immigration question," he said, "They tell me there are ten thousand men out of work in Toronto and that is a matter which interests me because we have millions of people at home proposing to emigrate. I wish to study the situation here from the immigration point of view."

Lord Northcliffe and his party, including Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, arrived at 8.30 o'clock and were met at the train by Leighton McCarthy, a prominent Toronto lawyer and friend of his lordship who visited him last year in England. The party went to the McCarthy's home for breakfast and then visited the Toronto Golf course, eight miles out, where Lord Northcliffe and H. S. Blackwood played an 18 hole game with Mr. Steed and Mr. McCarthy and lost by a slight margin. "He is a great player for a man of his years," said Mr. McCarthy, after the game, Keen as mustard" and he plays the game strenuously all the time.

After the game of golf Lord Northcliffe motored to the Harris Cox Stock farm at Oakville, at which Lord Northcliffe showed keen interest especially in the stable.

Short Circuit Ignited Sewer Gases Which Started Blast; Crowds Gathered And Were Hurt By Later Detonations

MINNEAPOLIS, July 31.—Thirty persons were taken to the General hospital, about 100 others were treated elsewhere for minor injuries and property damage estimated at $50,000 caused by a series of eight explosions in downtown Minneapolis late last night and early today. None of the injured is hurt seriously, and all except five were released from the hospital this afternoon.

Most of those hurt were cut by flying glass or were bruised and stunned when thrown to the pavement.

The first explosion occurred shortly after 5:30 o'clock last night and was believed to have been caused when a short circuit in a power cable manhole at Sixth street and Nicollet ignited sewer gas. The manhole cover was blown about 20 feet and flames shot into the air. A number of persons were injured here.

A crowd of several thousand quickly gathered despite efforts of police and firemen to keep them back. A few moments later another explosion occurred in a menhole across the street. Twenty-five persons injured in the second blast had to be taken to the hospital.

Many women fainted and children were trampled on in the mad rush of the crowds to get away from the scene. The United Cigar Stores Company store at Sixth street and Nicollet was wrecked and the damage to the store was estimated at $12,500. The police finally managed to rope off the danger zone and the following explosions, the last of which occured at 1.30 a.m., broke only glass windows or tore small holes in the street.

Ingwald Anderson of this city fell into a manhole after an explosion. Quick work by firemen saved his life. W. J. Hollenbeck a fireman was severely cut and bruised in aiding in rescuing Anderson. Theodore Heggerness of Mankato, Minn., who was in the cigar store, was pulled away by debris which was pulled away by bystanders and police.

Eight stores between Fifth and Seventh Streets on Nicollet and the Minneapolis Electric Light Company's cable system were the principal sufferers. Two jewelry stores had their windows display, including thousands of dollars worth of diamonds, scattered about the street. A guard of police was thrown about the places, however, and the jewelry was picked up and placed in a safe spot in the store.

Eight large electric power cables were destroyed and it was said it would take a week to repair them. Company officials expected to have an emergency cable for industrial purpose tomorrow. No estimate of the damage to the cables be obtained tonight but officials said the loss would be heavy.

At 1.30 a.m. the electric current was turned off to all parts of the city and it was only after this had been done that the explosions ceased. The current was resumed at 3 a.m.

Results in the Competition Of Edmonton Horticultural And Vacant Lots Garden Club

Excellent Showing of Both Flowers and Vegetables Reported by Judges

This year the judges in the various classes for the Edmonton Horticultural and vacant lot garden club had no easy task in deciding from among the many competitors, the prize winners in the twenty-six classes. Both flowers and vegetables are a most excellent showing, and all the winning gardens are well worth visiting. The care, thought, and judgment in arranging the planting of the lots for competition, shows a keen perception of the fine points that count so much in the eyes of the judges.

brings the amateur grower almost to gained a standard of excellence that brings the amateurg rower almost to a parallel with the professional, and the judges are unanimous in their praises of the state of perfection reached this summer. Special mention should be made of several gardens. Primarily that of W. T. Bradden deserves the honors awarded it. This garden, including lawn, flowers and vegetables, wins the special trophy provided by Mr. Wm. Lincs. whilst the vegetables of G. Donnelly and S. Buchanan are specially arranged and of fine quality, and Mr. Young has an excellent example of what can be produced in a very small space.

In the floral competitions the blooms now open in the gardens of A. Peree, W. Peree, A. Edge, W. T. Bradden and J. Kinnear are specially worthy of note. A. Peree has a splendid display of handsome pansies and stocks on his lot, though he has no city water or hose. A visit to this garden will well repay a short walk just to see what can be done even under difficulties.

The best crop of tomatoes seen in the city for a long time is now ripening in a small greenhouse at J. Kinnear's home, and the lovely asters in the garden are well worth seeing.

Mr. Frederickson, of the Klondike gardens, North Edmonton, and Mr. H. Taylor, of the Bonnie Doon nurseries, acted as judges f the vegetable classes: George Slocombe, of the Emery Floral Co. and Ernest Stowe, of the Government House gardens, were judges in the floral classes.

New York Candy Store Chain Cuts Its Prices in Half; Gives Its Reason

NEW YORK, July 31.—A cut of approximately 50 per cent. in the price of all candy, from gumdrops to bon bons, was announced today by a chain of candy stores following a general agitation against the high prices of ice cream, cold drinks and confectionery.

Benjamin Miller, one of the company officials, made public a memorandum which he said had been sent to the National Confectioners' association. It said:

"It's time we got down to reason in this matter. We have been making not 100 but 300 per cent. profit for a long time. This kind of business, if kept up, would create a panic."

Labelled as a Robber, Man Was Found Tied to Church Fence in Belfast

BELFAST, July 31.—"Robber of the Cacroom railway," was the inscription on a card fastened to the breast of a man found tied to the railings in front of St. Francis church on Liberty street this morning. The upper part of the man's face was concealed with a handkerchief.

It is understood the happening was connected with the theft on Friday of $1,000 from a train bound from Cork to Cacroom by four armed men.

The man was alive and the police liberated him and dispersed the large crowd which had gathered.

Grip of Famine in Russia Now Reported; Seed Grain Required

RIGA, July 31 (By The Associated Press).—Speaking at the relief meeting called by anti-Bolshevik elements in Moscow, N. M. Kishkin, Soviet minister of public welfare, representing the government, agreed to guarantee freedom of work and independence to the collection and distribution of funds. Kameneff said it was necessary to get aid from America and Europe, which should be urged to give regardless of social differences with Russia. Unless seed grain is furnished immediately the winter crop of the Volga provinces will also be a failure, the agency states.

Latvia, Lithuanian and Polish citizens in Russia, who have been repatriated in an orderly manner, no longer await the formation of regular groups but instead are enedavoring to escape from Russia at their own risk, says the Riga Rundschau. Refugees, frantic from the spread of hunger and cholera, are escaping from Moscow in such numbers that no regulations can master the situation, the newspaper asserts.

BANK CLEARINGS.

A decrease in the bank clearings for July as compared with the corresponding month last year is reported by the city clearing house, the figures being: $18,760,263.52, while in 1920 the total reached $21,110,274.31.

BABE RUTH IS FIRST PLAYER TO PASS CENTURY

Chicago, July 30—Babe Ruth, baseball's home-run king, has the distinction of being the first player in the major leagues to pass the century mark this season in runs scored, the American league slugger having scored 101 times for the Yankees. In the National league Frank Frisch of the Giants ,leads in runs scored with 77, according to averages released today which include games of last Wednesday.

Ruth batted out only three singles in the four Yankee games since the last averages were released but stretched his total base record to 259. This total is the result of 113 hits, which include his 36 homers, which are unchanged from a week ago, 24 doubles and 7 triples. Ruth is batting .355.

Harry Heilman, the Detroit outfielder, was the only member of the leading seven batters who added to his mark of a week ago. He added one point and is heading the list with an average of .430. Ty Cobb, pilot of the Tigers, dropped a point, but continued to trail his outfielder with .389, while Tris Speaker ,manager of the world's champion Indians, slumped three notches and is just behind Cobb with .381.

Harris, Washington, added a brace of stolen bases to his string and is showing the way to the base stealers with 19. His closest rival is George Sisler, the St. Louis star, who is trailing with 16.

George Kelly of the Giants, got back into his home run stride during the past week and cracked out four circuit drives, bringing his total for the season to 17, according to averages released today. Meusel, formerly with the Phillies, and now a team-mate of the slugging New York first baseman, and Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis star ,are Kelly's closest rivals for home run honors, being tied with 12.

Hornsby, who brought his total base collection to 235 during the past week, continues to top the batters with .416. He made his total base record on 147 hits, which includes 26 doubles and 13 triples.

Pep Young, of the Giants, has tied Cutshaw, of Pittsburg for the runner-up honors to Hornsby for players in 55 or more games. They are tied with .362, while McHenry, of St. Louis, is next with .358.

Sensational Interview Was Wrongly Attributed To Lord Northcliffe; Not Made By Him

Wickham Steed, Editor of London Times Was to Blame According to Explanation Given by New York Paper—It Contained Matter That Should Not Have Been Published.

New York, July 30.—The New York Times last night issued the following statement, explaining the interview with Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, which it published Monday, annd which was erroneously attributed to Lord Northcliffe when republished in some newspapers abroad:

"The interview with Mr. Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, published in the New York Times last Monday, was written by a trustworthy reporter, who believes that he reported accurately what Mr. Steed said.Mr. Steed has since told the Times that it contains matter which should not have been published. Mr. Steed did not have an opportunity to revise the interview."

"Reprinted in England, one of Lord Northcliffe's own papers, according to the cable despatches, it appears that the interview was incorrectly attributed to Lord Northcliffe himself. Lord Northcliffe has not given the Times, nor has the Times reported him as giving any statement of a purported conversation between King George V. and Mr. David Lloyd-George."

London, July 30.—The sensational and unprecedented incident of a British sovereign repudiating to parliament, through the prime minister, statements attributed to him in a newspaper interview, is given the greatest prominence in the entire British press this morning.

Political circles have been able to talk of little else since Mr. Lloyd George appeared in the house of commons yesterday and read a statement authorized by King George in which the king declared that words attributed to him concerning the government's Irish policy in a reported interview in the United States by Lord Northcliffe, owner of the London Times, were a complete "fabrication."

The Alleged Interview.

The alleged interview quoted King George as saying to Premier Lloyd George just before his Majesty left England to open the Ulster parliament: "Are you going to shoot all the people in Ireland."

The prime minister is said to have replied: "No, Your Majesty."

"Well then, you must come to some agreement with them," the king was quoted as saying. "This thing cannot go on. I cannot have my people killed in this manner."

(The foregoing conversation appeared in an interview published in New York City, July 25, attributed to R. Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, who is travelling in America with Lord Northcliffe. It was given by Mr. Steed the day after arrival from England and subsequently appeared in English newspapers attributed directly to Lord Northcliffe. The latter yesterday sent a cablegram from Washington to Lord Stamford Ham, private secretary to King George, denying the reported interview. The cablegram said. "Please convey to His Majesty with my humble duty my denial of ever having ascribed to His Majecty word or words as stated by the prime minister yesterday. I gave no such interview.")

Big Display in Britain.

British newspapers display the entire affair at great length and under large headlines this morning. The papers controlled by Lord Northcliffe contain brief editorials calling attention to the denials of both King George and Lord Northcliffe.

The Times, in an early edition assumed that the reporter who took the alleged interview was "misled by ignorance of British constitutional practices, but dramatized the conversation with such technical skill that the government was induced to accept his version of a purely imaginary conversation between King George and the premier."

This statement does not appear in later editions of the Times, neither does the Times, nor the Daily Mail, another Northcliffe paper, offer a further explanation of Lord Northcliffe's share in the incident, but both devote considerable space in commenting upon the king's correct attitude in relation to his opening of the Belfast parliament. The Times says:

In Accord With Tradition.

"At Belfast, the king's action obviously was in accordance with tradition, but at the same time it should be clearly understood that His Majesty constitutionally was entitled to call the attention of his advisers to his own standpoint."

The Mail says that it is unnecessary to remind its readers regarding the attitude of the Northcliffe press towards the throne of Britain and the revered sovereign who occupies it."

"The king," it continues, "has done more than anybody to bring about a new understanding of the Irish problem and to advance the cause of Irish peace, but he has acted, as he always acts, within the limits of his constitutional position."

After ridiculing the attribution of such "nonsense" to the king, the Morning Post says that Lord Northcliffe's denial was "needed as the words ascribed to him were not entirely out of character to other authentic utterances from the same lips."

Referring to an article in the Daily Mail last Thursday describing the activity of Lord Northcliffe in America, the Post continues:

Mind Overstrained

"Lord Northcliffe's mind is clearly over-strained. It is a case not for the politicians but for the doctors. There is a point at which megalomania becomes dangerous. The patient must either be persuaded to rest or his friends must fear the worst."

The Daily News, suggesting that the whole affair may prove to have been a hoax, adds:

"The lesson to be drawn will be simply the danger of semi-royal progress in foreign countries of peripatetic potentates of undefined status. They not only are a jest in themselves but are an invitation to the practical joker, and a joke in these serious times may be exceedingly serious and costly."

Assuming that a hoax is the explanation, this newspaper thinks that Lord Northcliffe deserves some sympathy, but adds that he should have chosen "some less irreverent country than the United States for his triumphal journey, as the purposes of advertisement would have been equally well served by a voyage to the pole."

Chronicle's View

The Chronicle says that Lord Northcliffe appears to have gone to the United States with the intent of doing what he could to make Mr. Lloyd George unpopular there and thus "queer the pitch" for the British government in the coming disarmament negotiations in Washington.

"In this country," the Chronicle continues, "it is so much a matter not merely of political etiquette, but of common decency not to drag the king in the mud of political controversy that we could only read Northcliffe's alleged statements with pained unbelief."

Both Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Northcliffe are censured by the Herald, which says editorially:

"It is a diverting piece of low comedy, with two great demagogues as back chat comedians. The whole silly squabble is just a music hall turn put on for two purposes, first to gratify the vanity of these two worthies, and secondly, to divert the people's minds from things that really matter."

HOW WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE
May Escape the Dreaded Sufferings of That Period by Taking Mrs. Block's Advice

Hopkins, Minn.—"During Change of Life I had hot flashes and suffered for two years. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the paper and got good results from taking it. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish this fact as a testimonial." — Mrs. Robert Block, Box 542, Hopkins, Minn.

It has been said that not one woman in a thousand passes this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, sinking spells, spots before the eyes, dizzy spells, nervousness, are only a few of the symptoms. Every woman at this age should profit by Mrs. Block's experience and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., about your health.

Bulletin Correspondents Report Very Favorable Crop Conditions In Most Parts of Central Alberta

Prospects Are For a Yield Well Above Average—Sufficient Rain in Most Districts for Crop Requirements—Harvest Fully Two Weeks Earlier Than Usual

Recent rains with the bright sunny weather that has prevailed during the past two weeks in most parts of Central Alberta creating ideal growing conditions have brought the crops along in splendid shape and prospects are for a yield well above the average. According to Bulletin correspondents all indications point to an early harvest. In some districts the wheat is already in the milk stage and beginning to color, and it is expected that the binders will be in the fields fully two weeks earlier than last year. In the districts north of Edmonton moisture conditions have been very favorable throughout the whole of the growing season, and the hay crops are very good, but in the districts south of Edmonton as a result of the dry weather in June, the hay crops will be somewhat lighter than usual. It is not expected, however, that there will be a shortage of hay.

Hail has been reported in several districts, and although in some places a considerable damage resulted, the areas effected are small. The crops that were damaged by hail early in the season have, for the most part, fully recovered.

Early Harvest.

In the Edmonton district the crops are in splendid condition for the most part, and prospects are for an exceptionally heavy yield. In one or two sections the crops have suffered some as a result of a lack of rain, and the yields in these parts will be somewhat lighter than usual. Wheat on summerfallow is exceptionally good, and is considered to be the best that has been grown in the district for years. The early sown wheat is already in the milk stage and indications are that the harvest will be fully two weeks earlier than usual. The hay crop in some parts of the district will be somewhat lighter than usual, but it is not expected that there will be a shortage.

Spruce Grove—The hot dry weather of the past ten days is making itself felt in the immediate vicinity of Spruce Grove and Stony Plain. Crops are generally in splendid condition, but west and south, rain has been needed for some time. Most of the crops damaged by early hail seem to have fully recovered.

Wetaskiwin—Rain is badly needed in this community, as we have had only a few showers recently, and the hot weather had taken a lot of moisture from the soil.

Plenty of Rain.

Millet—Ideal weather conditions have prevailed in the Millet district for some weeks, and the crops are making splendid progress. There have been light showers of rain almost daily, and the prospects are that the yield will be the best in years.

Lougheed—The continuous heat of the past week has brought the grain along rapidly, and in two weeks wheat cutting will be general in the district. Some fields of rye have already harvested. There have been heavy rains north and South of the district, but near Lougheed only a few light showers fell. Indications at present are that the yield will be below the average.

Some Hail.

Vegreville—The crops all, through the district are in fine shape, and although a good shower of rain would be of great benefit, some farmers report the ground to be very dry from the scorching sun which has prevailed for the past two or three weeks, but with cool nights and plenty of dew which is much in evidence every night, Vegreville district may yet harvest a bumper crop. Wheat is in full blossom all through the district. An unusual number of hail stormes visited this district and several farmers at Warwick post office have been hailed out. The last hail storm was close to town, but fortunately very little damage was done.

Potatoes are in full blossom, and from all indications a heavy crop may be looked for. The average planted this year is somewhat smaller than last, due to the fact that thousands of bushels of potatoes all through the country have been left to rot or waste, due as a result of a lack of a proper market for them.

Halcourt—Crop conditions continue to be very good. The wheat and barley is headed out and the oats is just shooting. Judging from present indications the crops on summerfallow and breaking will be very heavy. Potatoes on low lying land were touched by frost recently but are coming on nicely.

Glenevis—Haying will be commenced next week. The growing season has been favored with plenty of moisture and a good crop of hay as well as grain is expected. Some of the early wheat is coming into the milk stage and beginning to color. With a continuation of the warm weather an early harvest is expected. There has been very little damage from hail.

Warspite — Crop conditions throughout the district are exceptionally good. There has been sufficient moisture for all requirements and a good yield is expected. Indications are that the harvest will be somewhat earlier than usual.

Rochester—A heavy wind storm accompanied by hail passed over the district July 21 which resulted in some damage to the crops. The grain in places was lodged by the wind.

Cherhill—A considerable damage was caused to the crops in the district as a result of a heavy storm recently accompanied by hail. In some parts the crops were completely destroyed by the hail. Some of the hail stones were reported to have been as large as eggs.

Lac Ste Anne—All of the grain crops are nicely headed out and indications are that there will be a splendid harvest.

Alcomdale—A heavy wind storm passed over the district last week accompanied by some hail, however, no damage resulted to the crops. The crops are looking exceptionally good.

Gibbons Station—The crops are in excellent condition and indications are that there will be a heavy yield. Heavy rain storms are almost nightly occurence.

Lorina—The weather has now turned exceedingly hot for the first time this season. Electric storms are still frequent with a little rain, and, unde these ideal conditions the crops are coming forward rapidly. A record crop is practically assured.

Monitor—Good heavy rains falling in this district on Saturday and Monday, have assued the farmers of at least a good crop. It is not expected to have a bumper crop, but in many cases the stand of grain is the best it has been for a number of years. Harvesting the rye crop has started. Dutch McCarron being the first in the field. His crop of 35 acres is now cut and stooked, and is a pleasure to look at. Reports from our local gardeners are that this year has been the best growth and heaviest yield since 1912.

CANADIAN NAVAL SQUADRON AT HALIFAX

Halifax, N.S., July 30—The Canadian naval squadron, consisting of the cruiser Aurora and the destroyers Patriot and Patrician, arrived in Halifax this morning from Esquimalt via the Panama canal. Their last previous port of call was Bermuda.

Johnny Wilson Is Still Middle Weight Champion

Boston, July 30—Johnny Wilson is still middleweight boxing champion as far as the Massachuetts boxing commission is concerned. The decision of Referee Jimmy Gardner that Bryan Downey struck Wilson a foul blow in the seventh round will be recognized by the commission in this state, it was officially announced.

In refusing to accept the action of the Ohio boxing commission in reversing the referee's award, the Massachusetts commission holds that the referee is the final authority.

False Stories Start Run On Boston Bank

Boston, Mass., July 30—Several hundred persons influenced, the police say, by malicious propaganda were in line to withdraw their deposits from the Boston Five Cent Savings bank when the doors of that institution opened today, continuing a run which began in mild form yesterday. Some of the depositors have been in front of the bank since 1 a.m. waiting to take out their money notwithstanding re-assuring statements issued by the bank commissioners declaring the bank absolutely sound.

Fifteen policemen were on hand to keep the crowd in order and the line at 10 o'clock extended three and four deep. Most of the throng were apparently foreigners.

Officials of the bank said they were not disturbed by the prospect of the run as there was $2,000,000 in cash in the vaults and $22,000,000 in other securities which could be converted into cash within 24 hours.

MEIGHEN GIVEN CORDIAL SEND OFF LEAVING LONDON

Large Number of Important Questions Are to Come Up On His Return

London, July 30—(Canadian Associated Press)—Premier Arthur Meighen was given a very cordial send-off when he left this morning by the boat train. Among the notables who were at the station to wish him God speed were His Grace the Duke of Devonshire, the Hon. Winston Churchill, Acting High Commissioner Griffith and several cabinet officials.

The premier, although somewhat exhausted from hard work during the last few days, was in good spirits. He reiterated his grateful appreciation of the unfailing kindness shown him and his party everywhere during his stay in England. Just before the train left, Mrs. Meighen was handed a beautiful bouquet by one of the many English ladies who had come to bid Premier and Mrs. Meighen adieu.

The Times in an editorial this morning praises Mr. Meighen on being a model of stern reticence, during his visit, and adds both in England and Canada this self-restraint has been greatly valued. The influence of Canadian premiers at such meetings, the editorial goes on to say, has alwpys been very great, and if Mr. Meighen believes that the less said about it the better, few will be quick to differ with him on that point.

Questions Await Him

Ottawa, July 30—(Canadian Press)—With the return of Premier Meighen to Ottawa about the end of next week, it is expected that many questions which have ben held over for his attention will shortly be decided upon. Among these will be the settling of dates for the by-elections to be held in West York and St. Antoine. The question of the West York writ came up some time ago when it was stated in despatches from Toronto that a tentative date had been decided upon, but at that time Sir George Foster, acting premier, stated that there would be no decision as to the holding of any of the by-elections until the prime minister got back.

His return will also revive the talk of the possibilities of dissolution, which, it is expected, will be one of the matters discussed in cabinet council shortly after the premier returns. Some of the government's friends are known to be counselling an early dissolution and general election, while others are equally as insistent on delaying an election until there is a redistribution measure, put through parliament.

Ballantyne's Plans

Considerable attention is being paid to the change of plans shown by the immediate return of Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, minister of naval affairs. When Mr. Ballantyne left here it was generally understood that he would remain in Europe for a month or two after the ending of the conference during which time he planned to make an automobile tour with his family. H's return within a few days of the premier is giving rise to much comment as to probable important developments once the full cabinet is gathered together in Otawa again.

WOMAN FOUND DYING ON PIER WITH BULLET WOUND.

Santa Barbara, Calif., July 30.—A woman identified as Mrs. Charles Slawson, of New York, a guest at an exclusive resort in Montecito, was found shortly before midnight last night with a bullet hole in her right temple on a pleasure pier in front of a fashionable hotel. She died a few minutes later.

Edmonton of Tomorrow

IN PREVIOUS ARTICLES something has been said of the reasons why the progressive citizens of Edmonton should be a part of The Bulletin Enterprise. These reasons are two:

Because Edmonton needs The Bulletin as never before in its history. Never hitherto has public opinion so much needed education, organization and direction;

And because the shares of The Bulletin Publishing Company, Limited, should be a safe and reasonably profitable investment.

Now, in this article let us think together just a little of what the Greater Bulletin can do for Edmonton.

Everyone realizes that economic conditions generally are abnormal. There is a prevalent feeling of pessimism. There is altogether too much talk about being hard up. No one claims that prosperity is by any means what it should be. And there is an obvious condition of stagnation and inactivity.

Now, all of this is unnecessary in Edmonton. As has been before said, a bank manager told me when I first came here that there is more money right now in Edmonton than there ever has been before in its history.

A "bumper crop" is right on us. In a few weeks wheat, oats and potatoes will begin to move, and this movement will mean a great influx of cash that will be available for the stimulation of business in this community. And this cash will be available for use here.

Business conditions generally are healthy. That is, there is no inflation of values. Business men are not in debt beyond their ability to liquidate. And any activity at all in business means prosperity.

And then, besides all this we have in Edmonton an unusual proportion of business men of Vision, Initiative and large capability for action. What is needed is that they act together.

Now, what is needed is a Program, Organization and Action. And a program means sane and vigorous co-operation in greater business activity.

What has just been said is a part of what organized and courageously directed public opinion in this community means. All of this means leadership, and leadership means capable, unselfish, patriotic, journalistic leadership. And this last means the Greater Bulletin. It can mean no other newspaper.

In the beginning of this article it was said that its purpose is to set out what The Bulletin can and will do. It can:

1. Fully inform the public as to what the conditions here really are.

2. It can suggest action that will be immediately beneficial to the community.

8. It can educate, organize and direct public opinion.

4. And it can organize the big men of this community into a community force that can do the things which are possible here.

Now, what has just been said indicates what The Bulletin can and will do. And it also very clearly indicates why every progressive citizen should be a part of the institution that publishes The Bulletin.

The Bulletin undertakes to be the organ of the intelligence and conscience of this wonderful community. And to do that well the progressive citizens of Edmonton should be a part of it. In the words of the great Lincoln The Bulletin should be "Of the people, for the people and by the people." And now let us make it so.

A foreign owned newspaper is too often disappointing, because it is conducted "for revenue only"—naturally. A newspaper owned by the people means representative and democratic journalism.

Because of the very much that The Bulletin has done for this community, and with proper facilities can much better do, it deserves the co-operation of the progressive citizens of Edmonton. And when The Bulletin Publishing Company, Limited, is fully financied, so that it can do the things that it is ready to do, the people of this community will very quickly feel the benefits.

DRURY CONTROL DENIES CHARGE EXTRAVAGANCE

OTTAWA, July 31.—(Canadian Press)—Denial of the charges of extravagance levelled against the Drury government in Ontario, and defence of that government's highway system, featured the speeches of Hon. E. C. Drury and members of his cabinet at the annual gathering of the Carleton U.F.O. at Woodroffe, on Saturday.

Hon. F. C. Briggs, minister of highways, defended the policy of his department and assailed Gordon Wilson, federal member for Wentworth, as the "catspaw of a stale government." If Mr. Wilson and the federal government did not spend so much money trying to discredit the Ontario government and the roads department in particular, the farmers' income tax would not be so high as it was today, he said.

Premier Drury declared his government had carried on through two difficult years, placing progressive measures on the statute books. It had gone into power finding things "decidedly wrong with the administration of forest resources. The result of the present investigation he believed would be to recover vast sums of money which belonged to the people.

The road policy, Mr. Drury asserted, was sound. It aimed to give all the people advantage from the money spent.

Expenditures, the premier admitted, were higher than in the time of his predecessors. The government came into power facing heavy committments for hydro development and other needs.

There has been a heavy expenditure for education but that was not extravagance; neither was the extension of a highways system.

NINE LAWYERS ADDRESS JURY FOR DEFENCE

Ten Hours of Oratory Scheduled for Today in Trial of Ball Players

CHICAGO, July 31.—Ten hours of oratory in which nine lawyers will strive to convince the jury that there was no conspiracy for Chicago White Sox players to throw the 1919 world series, is scheduled tomorrow in the baseball trial.

The defence expects to have made its last plea before court adjourns tomorrow, leaving the way open for the state to close Thursday and send the case to the jury.

James C. O'Brien, representing Gandil, and Ben Short, representing Cicotte, Williams and Jackson, expect to take up most of the time for the defence.

Branding the indicted White Sox players as murderers of sport who, if allowed to go free, would ruin baseball just as racing and boxing was ruined, Attorney Edward Prindiville Saturday concluded the first half of the state's closing argument. He demanded the maximum punishment for the indicted men.

"These men are killers," he told the jury. "They conspired to kill baseball—to murder out greatest sport, to defraud the public and their comrades, even to defraud the children of this country—your children and my children, who pay their bleacher admission fee to watch their heroes play a game they believe to be honest.

"A murderer deserves the utmost in punishment. Eddie Cicotte, Joe Jackson, 'Happy' Felsch, 'Buck' Weaver, Claude Williams, 'Chick' Gandil, and these gamblers conspired to murder baseball, and I demand that you twelve gentlemen inflict the maximum punishment of a $2,000 fine and five years in the penitentiary on each of them."

HOTEL CLAIM OVER ASSESSMENT UPHELD

Judge Morrison in the district court Saturday morning handed down judgment in the case of the assessment of the City vs The Royal George Hotel, and by his finding the hotel's claim was sustained.

In the first instance in this case the hotel owners appealed against the assessment of the city, complaining that it should not be taxed as a place of amusement and asked for a reduction. This appeal was granted, and the city appealing this decision carried the matter to the district court, where the appeal was lost Saturday morning.

Two other cases, those of the Selkirk and the Queen's hotels, in which they were the appellants against being assessed as places of amusement, were decided against the appellants.

In these three cases P. G. Thompson was the acting solicitor.

TWO WILL HANG FOR MURDER OF TORONTO MAN

Governor in Council Decides Not to Interfere with the Sentences

OTTAWA, July 31.(Canadian Press)—Roy Hotrum and William C. Mcadden, are both to hang on August 3 for the murder of L. Cabine, Toronto druggist. The governor in council declined to interfere with the sentences in either case, it was learned today.

Telegraphic advices from Prince Edward Island were that the administrator, Sir Louis Davies, had signed the necessary orders indicating that the sentences imposed by the court should be carried out.

The papers in the case were forwarded to Sir Louis Davies last week. Mr. Justice Idington, of the supreme court, who was administrator during the absence of Sir Louis from Canada, had declined to sign the recommendation on the grounds that he had only received the papers in the two cases as they were about to end his duties as administrator.

Petitions for clemency had been placed before the minister of justice on behalf of both men and special attention had been given by the G.W.V.A. to McFadden's case, because he was a returned soldier.

A CORRECTION

In an interview in Saturday's edition of The Bulletin with J. W. Mitchell, director of Alberta government employment bureaus dealing with irrigation work in the south, a typographical error gave an entirely wrong interpretation of his remarks. He was quoted as saying that: "there are a large number of returned men engaged as sub-contractors so far as known who belong outside the province of Alberta." This is obviously wrong. The sentence should have read: "There are a large number of men engaged as sub-contractors, storekeepers, etc., and there are no subcontractors so far as known who belong outside the province of Alberta."

THE IRISH SITUATION

New York Tribune cable:

The immediate development now expected is a new interview between De Valera and Sir James Craig, Ulster premier, which, it is said, the Sinn Fein leader will seek. De Valera hopes at such meeting to make the Orangemen another proposal, because he believes that the status of Ulster is the crux of the present situation.

In authoritative circles the Tribune correspondent learned that in the negotiations between Premier Lloyd George and De Valera, the Premier started out by suggesting that the new Irish settlement be based on the present Home Rule act and that the Sinn Fein leader rejected this advance flatly. When Lloyd George's final basis of peace was drawn up and handed to De Valera there was no suggestion of using the framework of the present act.

It is learned, also, that the Lloyd George proposals are by no means the last word from the British. They are couched in the broadest terms, and evidently drafted with the expectation that they would be subject to considerable negotiztion. That some interpretation will be needed, particularly in the case of Ulster, is the impression gained here. The actual nature of the terms remains more or less secret.

The Tribune correspondent obtains from an authoritative source the information that Premier Lloyd George was converted from an advocate of a strong repression policy in Ireland to an enthusiastic peacemaker, not so much by King George as by President Harding.

The preliminary negotiations on the subject of an international disarmament conference, it is said, convinced the British Premier that he must set his own house in order if he was to retain the proper influence in such a conference. About the same time General Jan C. Smuts, South African premier called in Downing street one day and told Lloyd George that a continuation of his present policies would result in the dissolution of the British empire. King George previously had told the British cabinet that there must be a peace overture, but Premier Lloyd George had dissented from the opinion and no steps had been taken. About the time the invitation to a disarmament conference in Washington came along and Lloyd George decided he was in the wrong. He switched over and is now pursuing peace as earnestly as previously he did war.

LOCAL LEGISLATIVE PROPERTY A SCENE OF FLORAL BEAUTY

The grounds surrounding the Parliament Buildings are just now at their best, and make a beauty spot in the central part of the city. The road leading up to the capitol building from the 107th street bridge is a little rough, but the lawns and the flowers are beautiful. The civil servants' gardens are in splendid condition just now, and include everything from potatoes to corn and poppies.

Several trees were planted this year most of which are thriving, and the tree groups are very beautiful as well as the shrubberies.

The bowling green is also worthy of mention, and to the bowlers this is the most beautiful as well as the most useful spot on the property.

Since the golfers who use the municipal links have to drive through the parliament buildings grounds to reach their club house, they also get a daily view of these beautiful surroundings.

FRANCE TAKES STEPS TO BAR UNDESIRABLES

Foreigners Guilty of Serious Crime to be Excluded—Tourists Are Immune

PARIS—France is now planning radical measures to prevent undesirable aliens, many of whom are wanted by the police of their own countries, from seeking profitable refuge here. While other countries, especially the United States, are doing their utmost to restrict immigration, the French have held their doors open to every one, merely insisting that identification cards be obtained, and there have been comparatively few cases where expulsion orders were issued.

The government has decided to increase the police surveillance of strangers, however, and has even suggested that finger prints be taken of every foreigner, so that if he is once ordered to leave the country he cannot re-enter under a false name.

Fifteen years ago almost 1,000,000 aliens were registered with the police, but statistics show that today there are 1,700,000. In 1913, although 30,000 foreigners were found guilty of more or less serious crimes, only 4,500 were expelled. Last year, with greater surveillance, only 6,000 were led to the frontier and told they were not wanted.

The new law governing foreigners, however, will provide for expulsion in every case where a foreigner is condemned for a crime which would require a prison sentence, and in such cases their Bertillon measurements would be sent to all countries represented in the international police organization.

As far as tourists are concerned, they will not get thi sunier than can produce a law. The only requirement will be that they fill out identification slips as soon as they arrive at a hotel or pension. Permanent residents, however, will have to pay heavily for an identification card and will not get this unless they can produce a certificate of good character from the police of their last place of residence. The Ministry of the Interior is to be given greater powers limiting the number of foreigners who can practise certain trades and professions when the labor situation necessitates extreme protection for native workers.

But in all this France does not forget to express gratitude for the help brought here by foreigners, and has made special provisions for ex-soldiers of any of the allied forces and will only interfere with those whose records show them incontestably dangerous to society in general.

When the baby starts to cut its teeth, then is the time the poor mother is under the stress of great anxiety. The child's bowels become loose, and diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and many other bowel complaints manifest themselves; the gums become swollen, cankers form in the mouth, and in many cases the child wastes to a shadow, and very often the termination is fatal.

On the first indication of any looseness of the bowels, give a few doses of

Motorists Are Asked By City Commissioners Not To Pick Up Likely Street Car Patrons

Assert That Motorists Make Cars Free to Strangers as Well as Friends—Street Railway Thereby Losing Thousands of Dollars—To Help Deficit Practice Must Cease

Commissioner Yorath is instituting a campaign against automobile owners picking up people and bringing them into the city, who would otherwise use the street cars.

The commissioner referred to this mater on Saturday morning remarking that the street railway was being penalized and losing thousands of dollars annually by reason of this practice.

"But you cannot stop motorists picking up their friends," was said to the commissioner.

"No," he answered, "and we are not asking them to do so."

It is the others we are concerned about, persons who they do not know at all, and persons who even get out into the road and stop motorists, and ask for a ride. I have myself seen almost the entire number of people waiting for a street car, carried off by a passing auto, and also seen them taken, as it were, right off the steps of the street car.

Some Special Points.

"Here," went on the commissioner, "are some special points which I would like to place before the public:

"The taxpayers of Edmonton have expended $3,054,556 on the business of their street railway and should therefore help to make it pay.

"The street railway loss for the first six months of this year was $23,183, which includes $12,000 for a damage claim carried forward from 1920.

Schedule Pleases

"The street railway for the first time is now running a schedule which appears to meet with the approval of passengers. The street cars are gradually being overhauled and repainted and everything is being done to meet the convenience of passengers. The loss on the Street railway is directly paid by the taxpayers.

"The street railway will pay if the owners of automobiles will discontinue picking up intending passengers other than their personal friends.

"No person should feel aggrieved if passed by an automobile because the street railway is giving a constant and regular service.

"The present practice of automobile owners robbing the street railway of intending passengers is worse than the most extensive jitney system.

Tension Is Lessened Between Great Britain and France Over Upper Silesian Question

Meeting of Allied Supreme Council is Likely to be Held in Paris or Boulogne Next Thursday—Lloyd George Says Two Countries on Road to Understanding

Thame, England, July 30.—Mr. Lloyd George, speaking at the unveiling of a war memorial here today, referred to the trend of the discussions between France and Britain over the Silesion situation. The two countries, he believed, were on the right road to an understanding and the preliminary troubles which were causing the difficulty has been "accommodated."

It had been arranged for the allies to meet in a few days to settle this question, added the premier, and he hoped the settlement would be final.

To Meet at Paris or Boulogne.

London, July 30.—The tension between Great Britain and France over the procedure to be followed in settling the Upper Silesian problem has materially lessened, British officials declared this morning. Convening of the allied supreme council on Thursday next has not been definitely determined upon, it was stated, but in well-informed quarters here confidence was expressed that the meeting would be held on that date either in Paris or Boulogne.

Alleviation of the situation is understood to have come with intimations by the French officials here of willingness to hold the immediate dispatch of troops to Silesia, provided Great Britain associates herself with France in a demand on Germany for facilities for their passage, should the supreme council deem such a movement necessary. The British government has already declared its willingness to agree to such a demand by the supreme council.

ESKIMOS BREAK EVEN WITH MAROONS IN DOUBLE-HEADER AT DIAMOND PARK SATURDAY

Fairbanks Won Beautiful Eleven-Inning Performance in Afternoon by Score of Five to Four—Evening Game Looked Like Another Win for Edmonton Until Lurid Eighth Inning Gave Maroons Six Runs

Edmonton and Winnipeg broke even Saturday, the Esks. taking a beautiful eleven inning game in the afternoon by the count of five to four, and losing a lurid contest in the evening eight to seven. The flavor of the last game was so strong as to almost strangle the pleasant aroma of the first. Here was Jones sailing along right up to the eighth inning of the second game with the nice comfortable lead of three runs—score five to two—and a pretty game—everybody resting easy in mind and body, figuring a double win over the Maroons and our standing in the percentages for Monday morning, when bluey! bluey! up went everything, umpire, players, fans, President Pearson and all. When the squall was over Winnipeg was seen to emerge with six large juicy runs, sufficient to put the game on the well-known ice; and anguish inexpressible was the lot of all and sundry.

But the afternoon game was a beauty and a thriller, going two extra rounds, being busted up in the eleventh by the distinguished Mister Mee with a two-base blow which drove Gleason across the platter with the winning run. Mee could just as well have had a homer on the swat accordingk to the new ruling this year if he had circled on the bases as the ball was lost in the long grass near the fence. It was a nice dramatic finish to a sparkling game.

Slaughter Again.

Lefty Slaughter essayed the stunt of iron man for the Maroons, believing that he could again hold Gleichman's fence-busters in the hollow of his hand. He came near to doing it, too. For five innings he held the Esks. scoreless, making fourteen straight frames from the night before that he blanked the Gleichman gang. However, he was getting nicked for sundry hits, albeit flinging a nifty brand of ball, and the end of goose eggs for Edmonton was appearing on the horizon. The end came in the sixth, when Mee landed on him for a ringing double to left field. Herman beat out a perfect bunt. Hauger crashed one smack at Slaughter that wounded him on the wrist, and Stokke came across with the old pinch hit that drove in two runs. Again in the seventh the Esks. corralled a pair of runs. Gleason singled between short and third. Fairbanks slapped one past Brautigan on a hit and run play. Apperson attempted a sacrifice, but Gleason was nailed at third for one out. Mee came to the rescue again and poled a screeching pinch hit to left field. The fleet-footed Fairbanks would have been nailed at the plate, so quickly did Pratt return the ball, had not Milligan dropped his throw. The flying Apperson came all the way from the first base on the play and also scored on the miscue of Winnipeg's catcher.

Meanwhile Freddy Fairbanks was hurling a choice article of ball, ably assisted in the field by his team mates, Gola and Aperson coming in for honorable mention, and Hauger crowning the afternoon's entertainment with a spectacular running back-handed catch with the gloved hand. This piece of work robbed Attreau of at least a three-base hit, and saved Mister Fairbanks much grief, and as later developments showed, actually saved the game, as the Frenchman would have surely scored on Pratt's hit. Herman made a beautiful throw to the plate in the third inning, picking Anderson off for the third out when he was trying to score on Attreau's solid single.

Winnipeg's Runs.

Winnipeg got their first count in the third inning. Milligan singled to left, but was forced at second by Slaughter on attempted sacrifice. Heilberger hit toward short in what looked like a made-to-order double play, but the ball suddenly took a high bound just as Mee was grabbing for it, and all hands were safe. Anderson hit sharply to aFirbanks, who threw to Gola, forcing out Slaughter. This should have resulted in a double play and side retired had Gola thrown to first, but he elected to try for Heilberger at second, and failed. Melillo walked, filling the bases. It was a ticklish situation with the hard hitting Attreau at bat. And he responded with a terrific liner to right field, scoring Heilberger. Herman nailed Anderson at plate by a great throw as before mentioned.

Fairbanks breezed along without much trouble until the eighth inning, enjoyin a lead of three runs, when he went to the hill in that frame. Victory seemed easily in his grasp, but something went wrong with the works. He hit Slaughter with the ball. Heilberger and Anderson quickly singled to the right and left fields respectively. Melillo fanned for one down. The demon Frenchman, Attreau, uncorked a whizzing double to right, and three runs crashed in. Brautigan and Pratt were retired on easy grounders, and a dangerous situation was passed, the populace breathing easy once more, although the game was tied. Fairbanks got into trouble again in the ninth and tenth innings, but managed to steer through without any runs resultig, ad was rewarded by his team mates in the eleventh with the winning counter.

It was a great day for Julie Mee at the bat. In six times up he crashed out two-baggers and two singles. He drove in three of the Esks. five runs and scored one himself, so you might say without fear of successful contradictin that he won the game for Fairbanks single-handed. But Freddy received gilt-edged support from all, as the following details will testify:

Evening Game.

From a game of joyful promise in its early stages and one pregnant with victory as far along as the competition of the seventh inning, the contest suddenly developed into one of lurid hue. It all happened in the fateful eighth, after a nice, orderly, respectable game had been progressing with the Esks. in the lead by two count of five to two. Jones had been flinging fine ball, his team-mates were giving him superb support in the field, and were rattling out base hits in profusion off the erstwhile pitching ace of the Maroons, Harry Benton. The contest smacked of another win for Edmonton. The populace were already tasting the victory when chaos broke loose and the scene shifted.

Melillo opened up the eighth with a nice line drive to Mee which might have been handled but wasn't. Mee knocked it down with one hand, where two could have been used to advantage. Melillo was safe. The flying Frenchman, Attreau, was disposed of on a pop fly to third. Still no premonition of direful happenings. Brautigan fooled around outside the batter's box to get the umpire's goat. Jones waited for him to take his position, and as he walked into the box shot over a fast one. Brautigan was not caught unawares and seemed to be laying for just such a manoeuvre. All he did was to connect for a nice single to right. Two men on and one out. Pratt belts a double into left field, scoring Melillo. Ryley smote a grounder to Mee, which would have relieved the situation if Mee had handled it. But he kicked it and Brautigan scored run number two. Jones added to the gaiety by hitting Nelson. Bases now filled with one out.

One Lurid Touch.

Here come the play that might have ended the inning, but did not put the lurid touch to the whole proceedings. Benton hit a ground ball to Gola, who picked it up within a few inches of third base. It was a tailor-made double play. All Gioia had to do was to touch third and throw to first and the side was retired. No, he didn't do that. He did not even touch third—so the umpire said, although it looked as though his foot was on the bag when he picked up the ball. He made awild heave to Gleason at the plate, and the ball rolled to the stand. Pandemonium then broke loose. Runners seemed to be crossing the plate ad lib. The umps was surrounded by players of both sides. Gleichman claimed that Gola had touched third and Ryley, who was on second, was out. His umps ruled differently, and finally got play resumed, allowing Pratt and Ryley to score, with Nelson perched on third and Benton on second. Four runs in and still only one out. Heilberger shot a single to right and Nelson and Ryley cashed in their runs, bringing the total for the innings up to six. Jones had to strike out two men to get the side finally retired.

Outside of this inning the game was a good one, featured by the heavy hitting by Art Hauger, who got four of the solidest kind of safe hits that any player could desire. One was a beautiful triple, one a double, and the other two mile-a-minute singles. Six double plays adorned the game, three by each team.

The Esks. made heroic efforts to pull the game out of the fire in their half of the eighth inning. With Kaufman pitching, Brautigan having yanked Benton when his team secured the lead, Hauger opened on him with a double to left field. Stokke walked. A wild pitch advanced both runners. Gleichman hoisted a tall fly that looked good for three bases, but Melillo captured it after a hard run. Hauger scored and Stokke took third. Gioia grounded out Kaufman to Attreau, but Gleason came through with a single to left, scoring Stokke. Jones fanned. With only one run behind the best the Esks. could do in the ninth was a single by Herman, which he tried to stretch into a double, and properly too. Had he made it, Hauger would likely have driven him in, but the umps declared Herman out on a hairline decision.

The Edmonton vs Strathcona Trinity game played at the Exhibition grounds on Saturday resulted in a win for Edmonton. THE SECRETS OF THE MOVIES REVEALED

A.—Screen makeup differs from stage makeup in that it is lighter and because very little rouge is used. Stage makeup is designed to be seen by the human eye which can detect colors. Movie makeup is designed to photograph well in black and white as the camera does not show colors and reproduces all colors in either white, black or grey. In making up for the movies a foundation of grease paint is put on first. A special movie paint is made up for this purpose. Then a thick layer of powder, either a light pink or yellow, is put on. A slight touch of rouge is put upon the lips mainly because the powder gets on them. The eyebrows are lightly pencilled and a little mascaro is put upon the eyelashes. Most actors as a rule put either brown black or green on the upper eyelid and shade it down to a soft effect with grease paint. Movie makeup must be applied adroitly or the camera will show it.

Q.—What famous movie star recently entered college again?

A.—Bessie Love is now a pupil in the summer school of the University of Southern California.

Q.—Who is Miss DuPont?

A.—She is the newest of film stars and has been mysteriously exploited by Universal as "Miss DuPont." Despite all efforts to conceal her identity, the Movie Secrets Editor has discovered that she is Margaret Armstrong. A little over a year ago she was a gown designer at the Metro studio. She is young and unusually pretty.

Q.—Is Agnes Ayres married?

A.—Agnes was married until a few days ago when she was granted a divorce in Judge Summerfield's court in Los Angeles. She testified that her husband, Frank R. Shoker, had failed to support her.

Q.—Has Pearl White any relatives in the movies?

A.—Pearl is the only one in her family in the films.

In a recent film comedy a child hit a croquet ball with a mallet, the ball miraculously went through all the arches and around the entire course without being touched again. Do you know how this was done? This trick of the movies will be explained in this department tomorrow.

The above question was sent to us by one of our readers. If there are any questions you want answered, send them to the Movie Secrets Editor, giving your name and address.

Allen

Little things that can go to make the big things that shape the destinies of many lives are no better shown than in the case of Constance Talmadge's latest film production, "Wedding Bells," an Associated First National pictures release, which will begin a three-day engagement at the Allen theatre starting today.

No more pretentious incident than a poodle dog's prank lies at the back of the series of rapid-fire events tha' follow in the train of the marriage of Rosalie Wayne, wealthy society gir' summering at Palm Beach, to Reginald Carter.

Another instance of how little things lead to big things is shown in the same picture by the fact that Reginald, sixteen hours after his marriage to Rosalie, admired the bobbed hair of a girl sitting several tables away from his newly-wedded wife and himself. What piqued Rosalie was the fact that her husband had remarked many times previous to their marriage about the beauty of her long hair. Rosalie did the logical girlish thing and bobbed her hair.

And while "Wedding Bells" isn't at all designed to prove the truth of any of the old adages of long standing, there are many instances of the cleverest sort of human interest. The picture has lost none of the charm of Salisbury's Field's play of the same title, and the natural humor of the story mixed with Constance Talmadge's personality and Chet Withey's clever direction make the picture one of the most interesting to be seen on the theatre's screen this year.

Rialto

"A Message From Mars"

To extenuate on the ability of Bert Lytell seems unnecessary—it has been done so often and so well. All that is needed is to say that he is starring in "A Message From Mars" which opens a three-days engagement at he Rialto theatre today as the featured attraction. There is scarcely a screen admirer in Edmonton who has not seen Bert Lytell before. But if there be one of those rare mortals, this opportunity should not be missed.

"Message From Mars" was adapted from the successful stage play by Richard Ganthoney. On the screen it gains an added lustre and beauty for here the possibilities for showing the action over a large space are increased tremendously. Lack of area was one of the big faults of the play on the stage.

The story deals with regeneration from selfishness of a wealthy young Englishman who takes everything for granted and puts everything in its subservient place, his fiancee included. She leaves him finally, and everything is tottering around him when a sudden conversation of soul at the sight of suffering humanity brings him to the right goal. This is due to a messanger from Mars condemned to haunt the most selfish man on earth.

In addition to the feature there is the Fox Screen News and a comedy selected for the fun there is in it.

"Mickey" is coming to the Rialto theatre for a return engagement shortly, and patrons should watch for the date. "Mickey" is the picture you will never forget. To see it once is to see it again; to never have seen it is to have missed an education.

Regent

The traditional miracles performed by the ancient Indian medicine man may be a myth, but Eva Novak, Universal star of "Wolves of the North," coming to the Regent theatre today, and her director, Norman Dawn, think otherwise.

All the picturesque Arctic scenes in "Wolves of the North," which is a story of the Alaskan wilderness, were filmed in Yosemite in midwinter. To obtain the proper atmosphere Director Dawn engaged a party of thirty-five Indians from the McKenzie river, to appear in the picture. Among the scenes taken was an avalanche. Special permission to stage this scene was secured from Chief Forest Ranger Townley, and about 800 tons of snow and rock were sent crashing down a mountain side.

According to the story, Herbert Hayes, playing opposite Eva Novak, rushed to the star's assistance; but to get out of the way of a ten-ton boulder he hesitated a moment, and before he could get Miss Novak out of the way of the slide, they were both buried in the snow. The Indians were of great help in extricating the actors, and found that Miss Novak was suffering from a sprained wrist.

It was a six-hour tramp back to the physician at the Sentinel hotel; but the medicine man of the Indian tribe came to the rescue. He knew of a herb that grew beneath the snow which would reduce the swelling and alleviate the pain. With the aid of his companion he soon dug through the snow, found te plant and applied it to Miss Novak's wrist. In a short time the pain subsided and the next day the actress was able to resume work in the picture.

Empress

Another famous work of Sir James M. Barrie, noted English playwriht and novelist, has been picturized by Paramount. This is "Sentimental Tommy," cherished by many as the most outstanding book of their childhood. It will be shown at the Empress theatre starting today.

Those who were interested in Paramount's version of "The Admirable Creighton," done under the title of "Male and Female," and "Half an Hour," with Dorothy Dalton, will welcome another Barrie's picture. "What every woman knows," portrayed by Maude Adams on the stage was also made by Paramount.

"Sentimental Tommy" is an example of the bigger and better possibilities of the screen. Beginning with Tommy as a boy, it takes him through many entrancing episodes until he reaches maturity. Gareth Hughes plays Tommy, and May McAvoy is seen as Grizel. Mabel Taliaferro and George Fawcett have big roles.

Monarch

Monarch

Films without numbers from the facile pen of James Oliver Curwood, all dealing with the Canadian Northwest, have been featured on Edmonton screen, but it is doubtful if any have scored the same success as "The River End" which will be shown at the Monarch theatre for three days, beginning today. This is a Royal Northwest Mounted Police story of great appeal, portrayed by an all-star cast, which is all-star not only in name but in ability. The story centres around the police headquarters at Regina, and has been carried out with due attention to deails, so there are none of the glaring discrepencies hat sometimes mark Canadian stories that are produced on the American side of the border. The plot deals with the impersonation of a Mounted Police officer who died in the north but the supposed criminal he had been sent to capture, his successful trip back to civilization, his detection and finally his successful evasion of the sharges laid against him by an enemy.

New Empire

"IRENE," STUPENDOUS MUSICAL COMEDY

There has been nothing in musical comedy in recent times to match the record of "Irene," coming to the New Empire theatre soon with a special company organized for a western tour. The book by James Montgomery is almost a literal transcription of a comedy called "Irene O'Dare," which the gifted playwright penned a few years ago. It is a comedy of modern metropolitan life, the heroine being a clever and vivacious shop girl and the hero a rich youth who falls in love with her when he begins to dabble in business life. In the background are various amusing characters, including Irene's dear old Irish mother, whose sense of comedy is richly Celtic. The whole play is saturated with humanity, comic and romantic, and it is embellished with a song-hit by Harry Tierney, with lyrics by Joseph McCarthy.

The proof that the piece has extraordinary intrinsic worth, part comedy, part romance, and part extremely tuneful music, is attested by the fact that it has achieved recordbreaking success wherever it has been presented. In New York it has been running continuously since November 18, 1919, though the cast has been changed repeatedly. Various "Irene" companies, not one of them boasting of a famous star, have played phenomenal engagements from Boston and Baltimore west to Chicago.

What the theatrical men call "capacity audiences" have been the rule during every engagement ,and return engagements hav been sought everywhere.

Obliging Salesman

The woman shopper looked and looked, but seemed to be unable to find anything to satisfy her. The obliging clerk pulled down box after box in an attempt to make a sale. Finally the woman picked up her gloves and parasol and observed:

"I don't think I'll buy anything today. I'm sorry to have troubled you, but the fact is I was just looking for a friend."

"Oh, that's all right. It was no trouble at all, I assure you," the clerk answered. "In fact, if you think your friend might be in any of the few remaining boxes, I'll open them, too!"—Harper's Magazine.

He's Wiser Now

There was a man in our town
Who thought that he was smart;
He bought himself a motor car
And took it all apart.
Right there, or so tradition says
He ceased to be so vain;
Two experts labored seven weeks
To make it run again.

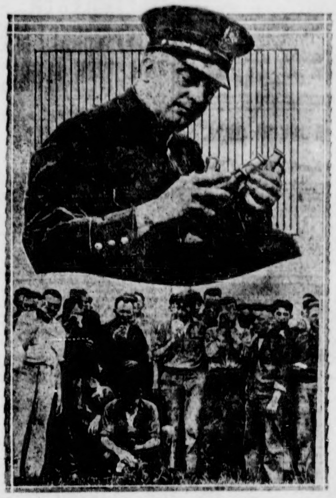
Policemen "Weep" in Tear Gas Sham Attack



The effectiveness of tear gas, as an implement to be used against rioters, in dispersing mobs, and perhaps on criminals, has been proven. Upper photo shows one of the bombs, which costs just six cents. Lower photo shows two hundred Philadelphia policemen, after the gas had sent them back three times in hasty retreat with wet eyes.

Why Castoria?

YEARS ago Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children; Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and the others all containing Opium in one form or another, but so disguised as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupify the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself without consulting a physician.

VEGETABLES ON CITY MARKET ARE LOWER IN PRICE

New Potatoes Selling at Seven Pounds for 25c—Splendid Cabbage and Cauliflower

Most lines of vegetables were selling at somewhat lower prices on the Rice street market Saturday morning than during the previous week. The week-end buyers were out in full force and the demand was fairly good, but with the vegetable season at its best dealers were offering larger quantities than at any time this year and in order to clean up were reducing the prices and it was also noticeable that in the case of vegetables sold in bunches, the bunches were much larger than earlier in the season. New potatoes which were offered by a dozen or more dealers, were selling at seven pounds for 25. Peas were selling at three pounds for 25c; lettuce at from 5c to 10c per head, and roots such as carrots, turnips, beets and onions were offered at 5c per bunch.

Cabbage weighing from two to three pounds per head were offered at 5c per pound. The quality was very good and at this price there was a ready market.

Cauliflower was selling at from 15c to 25c per head. Several dealers were offering tomatoes at 35c per pound. This is a lower price than tomatoes have been selling at for some time but the supply is getting larger and at this price there were indications of further reduction before night. Celery was offered by two or three dealers at 15c per bunch. The quality was very good and at this price it was in good demand. Cucumbers were also selling at lower prices than usual ranging in price from 15c to 25c each. Some old potatoes were sold at 50c per bushel but with the new potatoes coming on the demand was very light.

Eggs were offered in large quantities and were selling at from 40c to 45c, and the tendency was for somewhat lower prices. Butter was offered at from 35c to 40c and at this price was in steady demand.

Live chickens were selling at from $1.00 to $1.50 each. Dressed poultry was selling at 30c per pound.

TWO RELEASED IN IRELAND BY GOVERNMENT

John J. Egan and Patrick Higgins Are Given Liberty Pending Appeal

Dublin, July 30.—The crown attorney announced today that the government had decided to release John J. Egan and Patrick Higgins, pending a hearing on appeal against the habeas corpus and contempt of court orders issued in connection with their cases. The master of the rolls accordingly stayed the order he had issued for the attachment of General Sir Nevil Macready, commander of the British troops in Ireland, Major General Sir Edward Strickland, division commander and others for their failure to comply with the habeas corpus writs issued Tuesday.

These writs called for the production in court of Egan, sentenced to death by military court in Limerick last June for having ammunition in his possession and of Higgins, accused of having taken part in an ambush at Clonmult.

The over-ruling by the government of the military in the decision to release Egan and Higgins is considered here as an indication of a fixed intention on the government's part to encourage thes pread of the peace atmosphere.

Return Tickets?

A Vancouver despatch says that British Columbia will send every available man to the prairies to help in the harvest. That sounds well. It is probably also true. By all accounts there are a good many thousand men in the coast cities who are available for any sort of a job with a pay check attached to it. The contingent of harvesters from that direction is, therefore, likely to be large, especially if the civic authorities or the B.C. government provide free transportation as a means of reducing the surplus labor supply.

But a question of some importance, alike to the men and to the prairie towns is: are the harvesters to be supplied with return tickets? The harvest will be over in two or three months. When it has ended the prospect of getting work on the prairies will be no better than in Vancouver now or then. Aside from the temporary demand created by the harvest, there are more men in the prairie centres looking for jobs than there are jobs to be found, and the prospect is that employment will not be any more plentiful next winter than it is now. No doubt it would ease matters there if the coast cities could make the harvest an excuse for shipping their labor supply to the prairies for the winter. But that would not benefit the men concerned, and it would certainly complicate conditions in the prairie towns and cities.

Anxious To Let Go.

Kemal Pasha seems to be about in the frame of mind of the chap who wanted somebody to pull him off the bear.

An Expert View.

Mr. Fordney, arguing for an increase in the duties, told the tariff committee of Conrgess that Canada's tariff last year collected $19.20 per eapita from its people while the United States border tax collected $3.15. Mr. Fordney aparently does not agree with those Canadian authorities who argue that the U.S. tariff has been consistently higher than the Canadian schedules. Neither does he imitate their pretense that it is the foreigner who pays the duty.

Manless Men-o'-War?

A photograph of unusual interest has been made public by the U.S. naval department and reproduced in many newspapers. It shows the old battleship Iowa steaming off the coast of Virginia without a soul on board, while army and navy airmen shower dummy bombs on it or at it. The Iowa was controlled and steered from the battleship Ohio, five miles away. Perhaps the crewless battleship will be one of the wonders of the next war.

Getting Busy Again.

British reports are to the effect that the ranks of the involuntarily idle are thinning somewhat in the Old Lands. The development is no doubt directly due to the ending of the coal strike. Factories which were compelled to shut down because fuel could not be obtained are now resuming operations. As the workers thus thrown out of employment were numbered in hundreds of thousands, their return to work may well make a noticeable difference in the crowds of unemployed, as it assuredly will in the trade returns, business activity and general welfare of the nation.

Conscription for Sport?

A possible addition to the statute books of Germany is a law to compel all youths up to twenty-five years of age to take part in some form of athletics. It is argued that compulsory athletics might thus be made to take the place of compulsory military training, which is abolished by the treaty of Versailles. Conscription for athletics would surely be something new. That it would make for the popularity of sports is to be doubted. But perhaps it would help to teach the rising generation in Germany something of the spirit of sportsmanlike fairness about which their fathers in the war times seemed to know nothing.

What About Mr. Staples?

Mr. Crerar thinks that if his grain dealing firm is to be investigated the probing ought to be done by the grain board, whose business it was to see that the firm carried on its operations in a way that would leave no cause for investigation. Well, Mr. Staples is a member of the grain enquiry commission and a member also of the grain board under which the alleged transactions occurred. The grain enquiry commission cannot condemn Mr. Crerar's company without incidentally condemning Mr. Staples for direlection of duty. It is a bit difficult to believe that Mr. Staples was appointed to the commission in the belief that he would go out of the way to convict himself, or that he did so.

Harvest Wages

A newspaper report states that at a council of western government employment agents recently held in Regina, a wage scale of $4.00 a day for harvest help was fixed for this season. The report also stated that the Alberta representatives had suggested a rate of $3.00 a day.

The farmers of the west will be interested to know that the rate of wages they must pay has been fixed for them in advance. Of course, no combination of employment agents can prevent a man from engaging in harvest work for less than a fixed sum per day. Nor can any agencies compel a farmer to pay more than he sees fit. But with the work of distributing farm help restricted to government agents it becomes possible to hold out to the laborer the prospect of a wage that the farmer is unable to pay. If this is done the result is bad for both farmer and laborer; and equally bad for the general public, whose welfare depends in such large measure on the profitable result of farming operations. Nor if farming cannot be done at a profit it cannot be done at all.

In farming, as in every other industrial activity the labor cost in largest measure fixes the cost of production. The western farmer produces for the export market, therefore, he must take for his product what the world market will give him. He cannot know from month to month, much less from year to year, what that market will yield. Into his labor costs must always be figured the possibility of a falling market. Having to sell on the world's market at the world's prices he is entitled to hire the labor he requires at its value in the open market. He cannot sell on the open market and produce at a cost artificially increased.

Last season the farmers throughout the greater part of Alberta harvested a good average crop. Prices were high. The system of provincial government employment agencies made it possible to raise the wages of harvest and threshing hands against them so that although the season was favorable, it was the most costly crop to harvest and thresh that the country had ever seen. Eight and ten dollars a day were paid for harvest hands and ten to fourteen a day for threshers. Had market prices kept up the farmer might still have broke even. But prices come down with a run; the car shortage on government lines tied up the grain business until the bottom had dropped out altogether; some fall moisture gave an excuse for grading the grain "tough" and in the end farmers had colossal, and in many cases, ruinous, losses.

The losses of the farmers cut down their purchasing power. Saw mills were shut down because the farmers could not buy lumber; business of all kinds was stalled; financial depression set in; and the cities were filled with unemployed all winter. This was the result—the necessary and unavoidable result—of unprofitable farming operations in a good crop year. If prices had remained high, the farmer could have paid the big wages without loss. Or, if wages had been low, he could have stood the low prices. But high wages and low prices together practically cleaned him out, so far as the season's operations was concerned and everybody suffered as a result.

The question of the farmers' profit is not a matter of concern only to him. It is of intense interest to the nation. The experience of last season proves that it is not mere volume of production that makes good times. There must be profit as well as volume. As in last season, if there is a net loss per bushel of production, the greater the production the greater the loss. Profit depends on cost of production compared with market price. The market price outside the country cannot be controlled by action within the country. But there can be some measure of control in regard to cost. Last season the control was exercised to increase the cost.

The attempt to fix a four dollar a day harvest rate this year is plainly an attempt to unduly enhance the cost of production to the farmer. As a result of financial conditions last winter thousands of able bodied men were dependent on charity. When spring seeding was on in the prairies a wage rate of $50 a month was set. As a consequence tens of thousands of acres that would have been planted had a lesser wage rate prevailed, were left unproductive; instead of being used to yield the money value that every person in the country—and especially the unskilled wage worker—so much needs.

Now harvest is approaching. A fair but somewhat patchy crop is in sight. Markets are still depressed and may go lower. The farmer who pays high wages this year for harvest help is taking long chances. In many cases he can't pay, and in other cases he won't. Fortunately the harvest promises to be early. That means the possibility of harvesting at a minimum expense. But weather conditions may become unfavorable. Losses because of delay in harvesting from lack of help, caused by a too high wage rate, may result, the burden of which everyone must feel.

This is neither the time nor the occasion for another hold-up of the farmer, such as occurred last year. The thousands of men who have been living on charity in both eastern and western cities, even during the present summer, are witnesses that the country needs production at a profit on its farms. The farmer must pay what he has to for labor as he must sell his produce for what he can get; but it is to the interest of everyone that when labor is going to waste, as it has been for many months past, that he should get the benefit of it at such price as will enable him to employ it in large enough volume to save his crop as quickly and surely as possible. Our crop is not so large this season that the country can afford to have any of it lost when labor is available to save it.

Strike Ballots Are Sent Out By Railway Clerks

Toronto, July 30.—General Organizer Adam Hay, of the International Brotherhood of Railway Clerks. Freight Handlers and Station employees, stated last night that the strike ballots had been sent to members of the union in the United States and Canada to be returned by September 1. The men are being asked to vote upon the wage reduction which has been decided upon recently.

"Last year the brotherhoods were pussyfooting. The situation is different at the present time. They intend to fight the wage reduction, said Mr. Hay. "After we have strikes on three railroads in the United States."

Mr. Hay would not predict what the situation might be on the Canadian railroads. He stated that the Canadian Pacific railway had been informed of the decision of the brotherhood to reject the wage reduction.

U.F.A. JOINS CLASS OF SPECIAL PRIVILEGE.

Editor, The Bulletin.

Sir.—I am enclosing the copy of a letter printed in the Chauvin Chronicle, on the subject of the group idea, or rather that part of it which, while claiming to represent all classes is defined as responsible only to the U.F. Political association of the constituency represented. The writer is a well known U.F.A. man in the Killarney S.D. district.

READER.

U.F.A. JOINS THE RANKS OF SPECIAL PRIVILEGE.

19th July, 1921

Dear sir:

Now that the U.F.A. will form the Government of Alberta the point I made at Mr. Love's meeting in Chauvin last Thursday is confirmed viz. that the U.F.A. Association by the recall on their "elected representatives" will as an Association control the Government of this Province.

In the preliminary to the platform passed by the U.F.A. political conventions for this election appear these words "Our elected representatives are responsible to the Association."

Well, the "elected representatives" will now form the Government of the Province of Alberta and will therefore under the foregoing be responsible to the U.F.A. This gives the U.F.A. as an Association control of the Government.

This is special privilege. The U.F.A. has always had for its motto "Equal rights for all, Special Privilege for none," and the U.F.A. has never ceased to declaim against the forces of Special Privilege. By their own action in this election they have joined those ranks and made it impossible for those of its members who have any regard for their own honor (to say nothing of the honor of the U.F.A.) to remain members of that organization.

Yours truly,
H. FOREMAN.

P.S. The above letter has been forwarded to the U.F.A. Calgary.

BANDS AT THE FAIR.

Editor, The Bulletin.

Sir.—There appeared in your paper of July 27th and 28th, an article headed, "As Others See us," by E Cora Hind, copied from the "Winnipeg Free Press." The following statement regarding employment of local bands at the recent Edmonton exhibition, appears in the course of this article. "Instead of backing up the manager in his effort to employ local talent, the two outstanding bands of Edmonton made him a higher rate per day per member than they were charging outside points." Speaking on behalf of the G.W.V.A. band which played for the exhibition attractions and an additional evening program, I must state that Cora Hind is absolutely misinformed on this matter. The history of our negotiations with the exhibition management, which can be obtained from Manager Stark, will prove that there existed the fullest co-operation between the management and the G.W.V.A. band. I, myself spent a week re-arranging the music for the children's dance numbers, and also arranged the singers accompaniments, without knowing definately that I would receive remuneration for the work. The price for each musician per day was fixed by the musicians union, and was the exact prevailing union rate, furthermore, this band has never played at outside points for less than the union rate.

Again, it is stated that objections were raised to the Newsboys band playing, because they did not belong to the union.

The question of the Newboys engagements was handled entirely by the musicans union. There being no point of objection raised by the G.W.V.A. musicians. The Newsboys played three engagements during the exhibition week.

I think it might be wiser in future for the lady to ascertain that her information is entirely accurate before proceeding to wholesale disparagement of others. Thanking you for the space in your valuable paper, I am

Yours truly,
F. S. ALDRIDGE.

THE FARMERS' WISE CHOICE.

Alberta Labor News:

In the first decision that the Farmer members of the Alberta legislature have been called upon to make they have shown splendid judgment In selecting Herbert Greenfield as their leader they have chosen wisely and well. Mr. Greenfield is a man of sound and mature judgment. He is possessed of a broad-minded intelligence that has been an all too rare attribute of our public life in the past. He knows the farmer movement, is thoroughly imbued with the principles for which the U.F.A. has contended and not even President Wood himself enjoys the confidence of the farmers more than does the new Premier.

CONGRATULATIONS.

Albertan:

Among a pile of telegrams lying on his desk at the central office, Mr Greenfield selected the following:

"With your acceptance of the premiership I believe the best relationship between cities and country will be established." D. M. Duggan, Mayor of Edmonton.

"Congratulations and sincere best wishes."—Elmer E. Roper, editor Alberta Labor News.

"Heartiest congratulations from Alberta teachers."—J. W. Barnett, general secretary - treasurer Alberta Teachers' Alliance.

"Accept sincerest congratulations and best wishes."—S. A. G. Barnes, president Dominion Labor Party, Edmonton.

"Your friends made no mistake. You have my complete confidence and heartiest congratulations. I am sure your election will meet with unqualified approval."—M. A. Brown, vice-president Canada Colonization. Medicine Hat.

A SENSE OF PROPORTION.

London Times:

It appears that the eminent French historian, Professor Seignobos, of the Sorbonne, has found it necessary to call the young men of his class-room to order, and to rebuke them for allowing their attention to be diverted from the grave pursuit of history to the more attractive study of Dempsey and Carpentier. He recommended them to maintain a sense of proportion in their intellectual interests—a counsel of well-nigh impossible perfection. Yet there may be persons spiritless enough even to sympathize in secret with his protest, for a sense of proportion is what many of us seem in these days conspicuously to lack. But what with the redoubtable champions of the ring, whose aim is to "knock" each other "out" as soon as possible; what with thousands of less truculent antagonists whose object is to strike a ball either as few times or as many times as they can; what with the huge apparatus of telegraphy and photography, and other sciences set in motion every hour by a universal and ubiquitous press, it is not surprising that the history of the mere past should pale into insignificance. In vain does one seek to apply the ancient diatribe of Euripide:—

"Of all the myriad evils over Greece
"None is more evil than the athletic kind."

In vain does one remember that the most infamous blackguard of the Caesarean line was an accomplished gladiator. In vain does Professor Seignobos remind us that a negro pugilist could have felled Napoleon. Satire, indeed, is of no avail, for satire, as we know, only has to be pursued far enough and all human wishes become swallowed up in vanity. "Weigh Hannibal," says the most indignant of the satiric tribe, laying an annihilating hand on the subject professed by our Sorbonne monitor, "and how many pounds does he scale?" "Weigh Dempsey, weigh Carpentier," we retort with matter-of-fact sincerity, and satire retreats outdone by the earnestness of our demand. Apparently it was this very point—their comparative weights—that was distracting the Sorbonne when a more lenient professoriate would have acknowledged with greater philosophy the desire for enlightenment on so crucial a question. History and her professors will come in for their revenge later, even though for the moment the fame of a French boxer may have eclipsed that of his compatriot whose genius saved civilization. They will make use of today's fight by proving from it that the age lacked a sense of proportion.

Urges Construction Of Dominion Wide Auto Highway

Montreal, July 30.—Stating that he dreads looking forward to the coming winter in view of the serious position that will then arise in connection with nation-wide unemployment, Robert Bickerdike, former M.P., and at one time president of the Montreal board of trade, puts forward the proposal that the dominion government should start construction of a transcontinental highway for automobiles stretching from Halifax to Vancouver.

Mr. Bickerdike estimates that this project would give work to 150,000 men at a wage of a dollar and a half per day and their keep for three worst winter months.

Wanted: A Winner

Business men may be roughly divided into two classes: Men who DO things and other men who TRY to do things and sometimes succeed.

I am building up an organization here which will have a large part in the constructive undertakings of Edmonton. This organization is being made up of DOERS of things. I have no place for the man who can promise no more than to Try. In all the world there has never been set up a monument in honor of a man who Tried to do something.

I now want a Salesman and here are the qualifications he must have:

1. A forceful personality.
2. Some acquaintance and prestige.
3. And the ability to get men to do a thing which for every good reason they should do.

For the man who can thus qualify I have a very attractive proposition. Call at my office and ask for Mr. Dunn.

ANOTHER SEARCH PARTY GOES OUT TO SECURE BODY

Carried On Rough Stretcher Mrs. Stone Arrives at Trail Centre Camp

Calgary, Alta., July 30.—The Calgary Herald's staff member who went into the mountains to get the facts surrounding the death of Dr. W. E. Stone, president of Purdue university who fell to his death at Mount Eon on July 16, wires his paper this morning as follows:

Trail Centre Camp, July 30.—Carried in a rough stretcher over miles of narrow mountain trail, Mrs. Stone arrived here yesterday afternoon, and will remain until well enough to complete the 35-mile journey to Banff by pony. Her husband's body still lies somewhere on Mount Eon, but another search party composed of Swiss guides is being formed and will commence work soon. Forced to abandon the idea of conveying Mrs. Stone from Mount Eon to Marvel Creek by way of the lakes, the rescue party carried her there on Thursday afternoon. After a week of unremitting toil on the mountain, seven of these men though almost exhausted were able to complete the trip to Trail Centre Camp on Friday. Mrs. Stone looks wonderfully well after her terrible experience.

On Friday morning she was able to sit up for a few minutes before commencing her journey and although tired out when she reached here was able to take little more solid nourishment. Probably she will be well enough to travel without a stretcher in a week or ten days. Dr. Bell, Winnipeg, is still with the party and his wife, unknown to him, was waiting at Trail Centre to lend assistance to Mrs. Stone when she arrived.

Son is Expected.

Dr. Stone's son is expected to arrive at Banff Sunday morning, and will at once take the trail out here, later going on to Mount Eon to assist in the search for his father's body. A. O. Wheeler of the Alpine Club, was awaiting rescuers and rescued here when they arrived. Mrs. Stone's story of the tragedy and her own ordeal on Mount Eon, told in brief snatches and supplemented by information from members of the rescue party differs only in minor details from the account already published in the Herald. She and Dr. Stone had planned to climb for some time. Because two men had attempted it last year and failed, the Stones tackled the mountain from a new aspect on the southeast face. They arranged for a food cache east of Mount Glory before setting out. It was six o'clock Saturday when they found themselves near the top of the mountain and halted by bad going. Leaving Mrs. Stone on a ledge and removing the ropes which held them together Dr. Stone went on to explore a chimney above them.

First She Knew of Accident.

The first Mrs. Stone knew of the accident, she says, was when she heard cracking noise above her and a large boulder came crashing out of the chimney. A moment later Dr. Stone fell and went hurtling past her to the depths below. The rope which he had been carrying also fell and she caught it. After letting herself down to another ledge with the rope Mrs. Stone remained there Saturday night. On Sunday morning unable to get back the way she came, she attempted to climb farther down. She let herself over an overhanging ledge which led nowhere and here she was forced to remain until eight days later. Big boulders on the ledge prevented her from lying down all the time she was there. There was only a tiny scoop of shelter and Mrs. Stone was but lightly clad to withstand the terrible cold. When found her clothes were torn to ribbons. Marvelous to say, she retained consciousness all the time she was on the edge and on the day she was found her rescuers heard her calling for help. Questioned as to what she did during those terrible eight days or how the time went, Mrs. Stone cannot give a clear answer. She remembers that she spent much time looking for and collecting water in the little pools on the ledge, in calling for help and in attempting to ward off the cold and fury of the elements. All the time she suffered mental anguish over the fate of her husband although she was almost certain that he must be dead. She never gave up hope of a rescue.

The great trouble after Mrs. Stone's rescue lay in finding suitable nourishment to keep her alive. Fortunately Dr. Bell arrived at Mount Eon two hours after Rudolph Rammer carried her down and without this immediate medical assistance she would probably have died then and there. Mrs. Stone is a strongly built woman and of youthful appearance, mentally and physically she is perfect, and it is only due to this that she withstood an experience that would have been fatal to 99 out of 100 people. Dr. Bell states that she will recover soon and that she will suffer absolutely no lasting effects from her experience.

Advocates Setting Aside Street For Children to Play on

Toronto, July 30.—Toronto should set aside certain streets upon which the children can play, and should bar all motor traffic on them, in the opinion of Dr. M. M. Crawford, one of the city coroners.

"It has come to a state where we must do something to stop this unneccessary slaughter of children on our streets," says Dr. Crawford.

"At the next inquest I have in which the killing of a child comes up I think that I will call evidence to show why the board of education should have school playgrounds shut up."

Four Bandits Board Train; Wound Mail Clerk and Escape

Pittsburg, Penna., July 30.—Four bandits boarded the Manhattan Limited, westbound, on the Pennsylvania railroad at Cassandra, 90 miles east of Pittsburg, this morning at 2.45 o'clock and after wounding a mail clerk, rifled the mail car and escaped.

Federal and county authorities were notified and hastened to Cassandra where search is being made for the bandits. Soon after daylight they found a mail bag, evidently one stolen from the car. It had been opened and the contents removed.

Houses Were Saved When Forest Fire Swept Over Town

Sydney, N.S., July 30.—When the smoke cleared away last night the men were able to enter the hamlet of New Haven, 60 miles north of here, from which the 500 inhabitants fled in terror on Thursday before the on-rush of a monster forest fire. Much to their surprise, they found the majority of the houses still standing, though many had been damaged by fire. Apparently a shift of the wind accompanied by a rain squall had saved the most of the village from destruction.

All danger to Neil's Harbor and adjoining villages is now past.

Died of Injuries

JOHN CALDER, member of the Ontario Legislature for North Oxford, who died at his home East Nissouri, as the result of injuries accidentally received while hoisting hay.

Farming Conditions In Dry Areas of Saskatchewan and Alberta To Be Investigated

First Steps are Taken by Vice-President Brown of Western Canada Colonization Co.—Support is Promised by Government Officials of Both Provinces.

Winnipeg, July 30—Farming conditions in western Saskatchewan and Southern Alberta are to be subjected to an investigation which is expected to have far-reaching and happy results. The first steps looking to this inquiry were taken a few days ago by Vice-President M. A. Brown of the Western Canada Colonization association after consultations with the Saskatchewan board of directors and the available members of the Alberta board, Lieutenant-Governor Brett, James Ramsey of Edmonton, Pat Burns and General H. P. MacDonald, of Calgary and C. S. Noble, of Nobleford.

The inauguration of this survey is in keeping with one of the primary objects of the association which is to improve the lot of farmers already on the land and to retain existing settlers in the country. It is a work which can be carried on while the actual business of new colonization is temporarily suspended pending the conference of provincial premiers on land listing legislation which is to be called by Hon. T. C. Norris once the new Alberta government is actually seated in office.

Hope for Govt. Support

Its promoters believe that the decision to look into prevailing conditions in the south country will undoubtedly have the enthusastic and unanimous backing of all the governments, legislators and other public men, as of the bankers, the mortgage and loan companies, the implement dealers and other business men. The premier of Saskatchewan, the outgoing and incoming premiers of Alberta and other cabinet ministers in both provinces are heartily lending their aid.

Some days ago Mr. Brown made a preliminary tour of the districts around Medicine Hat and Lethbridge in company with local bankers, members, of boards of trade, U.F.A., members of the legislature, C. S. Noble of the Nobleford farms, and Professor Murray, expert agriculturist for the Noble farms. Everywhere throughout this tour experienced farmers and local business men talked of the fine results obtained from rye planting in the southern areas and it is now certain that the possibilities of rye will be much to the fore in the coming inquiry.

H. W. Wood, president of the U.F.A., and Herbert Greenfield vice-president of that body, who has since been chosen premier of Alberta, were approached with the suggestion that the incoming Farmers' government should co-operate with the Western Canada Colonization association and with other organizations interested in the creation of a representative committee to determine upon the speediest possible means of raising conditions throughout the south country towards a higher level of prosperity. Both gentlemen declared that they would spare no pains in his direction.

Premier in Support

A conversation with Premier Stewart over the long distance phone revealed the fact that he was equally enthusiastic in support of the new effort in behalf of the south country. He said that he had already looked into the possibilities of rye growing and added that if the committee should bring in a report strongly recommending the general sowing of rye, the department of agriculture would do its best to promote the seeding of large areas to that grain during the present season.

Premier Martin, of Saskatchewan, and Hon. J. A. Maharg, minister of agriculture, for Saskatchewan, expressed themselves as heartily in support of the new movement so far as it affects western Saskatchewan.

To sum up, public men, agricultural experts and successful farmers are said to be almost unanimously of the opinion that the planting of rye will do much to improve the general agricultural situation throughout these porions of the prairie country under investigation.

By agreement between the outgoing and incoming governments of Alberta, Perrin Baker, U.F.A. member for Medicine Hat, was appointed to represent his province on the committee of enquiry. Premier Martin delegated F. H. Auld, deputy minister of agriculture, to represent Saskatchewan. The dominion government has selected W. H. Fairfield, superintendent of Lethbridge Experimental farm, to represent it on the committee. At a meeting of representatives of implement manufacturing companies doing business in the western provinces, A. W. Trickey of the Massey-Harris company was selected to represent that industry. W. D. McKay was appointed to represent the mortgage and loan companies. At a representative gathering of bank managers, bank inspectors and supervisors in Calgary, a resolution was passed recommending that the Canadian Bankers' association place a representative banker upon the committee. It is expected that this request will promptly be acceded to. The Canadian Pacific railway has been requested to appoint a representative on this committee. M. A. Brown or some other director of the Western Canada Colonization association will represent that organization.

Personnel of Committee

So far as already constituted therefore the committe of enquiry will comprise:

The Alberta and Saskatchewan boards of the Western Canada Colonization association, represented by M. A. Brown.

The dominion government represented by W. H. Fairfield, superintendent of the Lethbridge Experimental farm.

The government of Alberta represented by Perrin Baker, M.L.A. for Medicine Hat.

The government of Saskatchewan represented by Mr. Auld, deputy minister of agriculture.

The loan and mortgage companies represented by W. D. McKay.

The bank representative will be appointed.

The Canadian Pacific railway representative still to be appointed.

It is proposed that the committee include four expert agriculturists thoroughly conversant with the conditions that exist in the districts under survey. The other members of the commitee will be representative business men.

Planting Fall Rye

As the planting of fall rye should take place between August 1 and September 15 in order to ensure the best prospects for good harvest in 1922, it is hoped that the committee will be able to commence work by the first of August. It is believed, moreover, that the work of investigating rye growing will occupy only a few days. In that event the committee will make its report early next month to the interests represented upon it. In case that report is favorable to the planting of rye as a partial solution of the drought problem, the governments and others interested will be able to take such action as will ensure the planting of extensive acreages of that grain this season.

It may be added that both the outgoing government of Alberta and those who will be behind the incoming farmers' government have given ample assurances that in case the committee's report endorses the rye planting proposal, every effort will be made to arrange a distribution of seed rye for use this summer and autumn.

It is probable that once this urgent enquiry into the advisability of rye planting is completed, the committee may be asked by the various interests represented to carry on a more extended investigation into the whole problem of successful farming in southern Alberta and western Saskatchewan.

Orange Lodge Gives Its Endorsation To Church Union

Toronto, July 30.—By an almost unanimous vote last night the Orange Grand Lodge of British America, placed itself on record as endorsing church union.

Resolutions were passed congratulating Sir James Craig upon his appointment as premier of Northern Ireland and expressing sympathy for the Protestant minorities in the south and west of Ireland, also expressing satisfaction at the appointment of Sir Edward Carson to the position of lord of appeal of the privy council.

The three-day convention was wound up with the election of officers. H. C. Hocken, M.P., Toronto, was re-elected grand master for the fourth consecutive term.

BRITISH SHIP NOT ALLOWED TO LAND CARGO.

Boston, July 28.—The British fishing schooner Helen McLain arrived her today with a catch of swordfish and was not allowed to land its cargo. Revocation on July 15 of the wartime permit to British vessels to market their catches at United States ports, was given as the reason.

Grain Markets

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Winnipeg, July 30—With the passing of the July contract month today, the cash wheat situation took on a new phase, and all business now being worked is on the basis of new crop delivery. Premiums today were quoted at 25 cents, 23 cents and 18 cents over October for the three top grades respectively, this being a drop of eight cents over Friday's close. No. 1 northern, on Fort William basis, is now worth about $1.75 with prospects of working lower still. Business in coarse grains was of light volume, a little demand existing for oats and barley of certain grades, but this did not appear urgent.

In the future markets the July contracts were all closed out without difficulty, the price breaking a couple of cents at the last. While there was no apparent demand in sight for October and December wheat, prices held strong, October and December closing 1⅝c higher at 153 and 145 respectively. In the coarse grains, July oats reacted ½c; July barley lost 2c with flax and rye about unchanged.

July wheat opened 1¼c lower to ⅝c higher at 183¼ to 185; October ⅝c to ½c lower at 150½ to ⅜; December 1¼c lower at 148.

July oats ¼c higher at 53; October unchanged at 50¼.

July barley unchanged at 79c.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 30—Prospects of large receipts Monday had a bearish effect on the wheat market today. Slowness of export call tended further to weaken values and so too did favorable crop advices from Canada. On the decline, however, demand broadened out from traders who talked of higher prices after the present heavy movement of wheat lets up. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged to 1½c lower, with September 123¼ to 123¾ and December 126 to 126¼, were followed by a moderate decline all around and then something of a rally.

Predictions of dry weather gave firmness to corn. After opening ⅝c off to ½c higher, with September at 60¼ to 60½, the market scored slight general gains.

Huge stock on hand tended to ease the oats market despite continued reports of poor yields from the new crop. Price opened unchanged to ⅛c lower, with September 38½ and remained easy.

Minneapolis Grain

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30.—Flour unchanged to 20 cents higher, in car load lots, family patents quoted at $8.50 to $9.25 a barrel, 98 pound cotton sacks. Shipments 53,801 barrels. Bran 15.00.

Wheat No. 1 Northern 138¼ to 146¼; July 130, September 128¾, December 129½.

Corn, No. 3 Yellow 53 to 54.

Oats, No. 3 White 32⅝ to 33⅝.

Flax, No. 1 2.01 to 2.04.

Local Live Stock

WOOD, WEILLER & McCARTHY.

Cattle—Receipts on cattle were fairly heavy for this time of the year. All classes of good butcher cattle sold about 25c lower, common butchers 50c lower, and all classes of stockers and feeders fully 50c lower. Best steers sold here this week brought 5 to 5¼, extreme top cows and heifers 4 to 4½. A lot of common half fat cows sold 2 to 3c. Bulls sold steady. Calves one dollar lower. Best vealers selling around 5 to 5½.

Hogs—Hogs sold the forepart of the week at 13¾, on Wednesday sold 14. Thursday and Friday 14¼. Prospects for coming week steady but would advise everyone to watch the market closely as they are entirely out of line with the eastern market.

New York Stocks

New York, July 30—Trading in today's stock market continued of a dull character. Price changes were narrow but strong underlying strength was noticeable in the major issues, especially the rails which were again the leaders of the market. There were irregular tendencies in most groups. Some short covering before the close caused slight advances in United Fruit, Bethlehem Steel and Kelly Springfield. Sugars, tobaccos and textiles remained firm on a small turnover. The market continued irregular up to the close, sales being approximately 150,000 shares.

Anxious Short Covering on Major Issues Shown on New York Market

NEW YORK, July 30.—Although stocks were irregular throughout today's short session, there appeared to be some anxious short covering in the major issues before rails and steels stocks. The absence of traders was noticeable and the turnover of shares was small.

Rails continued to attract attention by their strength and most of these issues closed with fractional gains. The action of the rails created a sympathetic movement throughout the list before the closing which resulted in several substantial recoveries being made from the low prices of th eday.

Early in the day several specialties such as VVirginia-Carolina Chemical preferred were unde rextreme pressure but they recovered a large part of the losses before the close. Professional traders endeavored to depress the list by selling the specialties, but the weakness of these stocks was ignored by the market in general.

The closing was marked by strength in United States Steel which advanced a full point from the low of the day. Other steel and equipment shares also showed small gains.

International stocks displayed steadier tone and made moderatea gains for the day. Sterling demand bills were stronger.

Government and railroad bonds were strong. The strength in the latter issues was looked upon as an encouraging feature of the market.

Total sales amounted to $135,400 shares. Bond sales, par value, totalled $3,925,000.

Advance in Egg Market Is Quoted in Ontario

OTTAWA, July 30.—Ontario country shippers are quoting at an advance of 1 to 2 cents, shipments made commencing August 2.

PROVINCIAL POLICE.

Calgary Herald:

The Royal North-West Mounted Police formed the most famous and successful police organization of its type in the world. Indeed, it may be said that that force originated the type and set a standard of efficiency which it has been the ambition of other mounted forces the world over to follow and equal. The mounted State forces of New York and Connecticut were modeled after the Canadian Mounties, and recently when the State of Indiana established a mounted constabulary it was frankly said in the State legislature that the R.N.W.M.P. should be copied as closely as possible.

The Alberta Provincial Police, in the method of its organization and latterly in its effectiveness, follows closely the style of its noted predecessor in this province. It has been in existence for only four years and at the beginning, owing to the war it was unable to secure the best class of men for police work, but it is now manned practically throughout by former "mounties," who are carrying on according to the traditions of the parent body.

Its record of activities for the past year is highly creditable and it is proving that with the confidence and support of the public, to which it is fully entitled, it is succeeding in enforcing the law quite as capably as the famous organization, which formerly maintained order in these parts.

Greenfield Cancels Trip East Owing to Problems of Cabinet Making; Has Returned to Calgary

Premier-Select Intended to Leave Saturday Night for Ontario But Calls Off Holiday Jaunt and Sticks to Grind Of New Cabinet Building—Selection of Attorney General One of Vexatious Problems at the Moment

Calgary, July 29.—Herbert Greenfield, premier-select of Alberta, made the definite statement on Saturday morning that no announcement as to the composition of his cabinet would be made until after the names had been approved by the Farmer members.

In reply to a question he stated he could not say at the moment when he would call that meeting. Unofficially it is thought that this will take place about the middle of August.

Although it had been his intention of proceeding east on Saturday night to join Mrs. Greenfield in Ontario, where she is spending a vacation, he had decided to postpone the visit in the meantime owing to pressure of business.

The cancellation of the proposed holiday trip to his old home in Strathroy, Ontario, makes it evident that premier-select Herbert Greenfield intends to lose no time in selecting the material for the new provincial cabinet.

Following the conference of U.F.A. members elect in Calgary Mr. Greenfield spent a couple of days in the southern city discussing cabinet possibilities with president Wood and other leading officials of the U.F.A. headquarters. On his return to Edmonton he met informally a few of the northern members-elect but did not offer any opinions or suggestions as to whom his choice might fall upon for the various portfolios. Mr. Greenfield was in the city but a short time during the evening, going on from here to his farm at Westlock, and returning almost at once to Calgary.

Reticent About Labor

One of the labor leaders who was active in the recent campaign stated that prior to his departure for the conference at Calgary, Mr. Greenfield had shown much interest in the proposed amalgamation with labor in the new government but upon his return was very reticent on the subject. This strengthens the belief that no very definite affiliation with labor will take place in the U.F.A. administration for a time at least.

While he would offer no statements on the subject it is apparent that Mr. Greenfield has received suggestions from all quarters respecting the formation of a cabinet and with this material on hand will thresh the problem out for himself. In any event there is a strong probability that premier Stewart will be required to carry on for some time yet before Mr. Greenfield and his cabinet are ready to take over the reins at Edmonton. By the withholding of opposition it would be possible for the premier-select to get elected by acclamation in Ponoka constituency in about three weeks time. Prominent Liberals from the Ponoka riding state that they will not oppose the election of Mr. Greenfield.

Attorney-General Problem.

At the moment the selection of an attorney-general is one of the perplexing problems not only to Mr. Greenfield but to the legions of self-appointed assistants. While it is understood that the position is first of all at the refusal of solicitor John Brownlee of the U.F.A. at Calgary, who was proposed by president Wood for the premiership, it is unlikely that he will accept. Also it is stated that A. H. Clarke, prominent lawyer of Calgary, has declined the honor. That has served to shift the scenes to Edmonton where a strong effort has been made to get the attorney-generalship for Hon. C. W. Cross, who was elected as a Liberal at Edson. From those closely in touch however with the situation it is declared that the chances for Mr. Cross are exceedingly slim.

Something in the nature of a boom for another well known barrister of Edmonton has been started by prominent U.F.A. men of the north, who assert that L. T. Barclay is the man for attorney general. Mr. Barclay has been an active member of the Strathcona local U.F.A. for the past two years.

Many Want Cabinet Jobs

At least two thirds of the constituencies electing U.F.A. members are boosting for cabinet positions for their members. Needless to say Mr. Greenfield is spending a trying time attempting to deal with these representations and it is likely to be some days before anything definite is known respecting the probable personnel of the new ministry. Contrary to general opinion it is not likely that more than the attorney-general and possibly one other minister will be chosen outside the ranks of members elect. It is fairly certain that the new government will start out with at least eight ministers, instead of the seven in the Stewart regime since the death of Hon. A. G. MacKay.

If George Hoadley is able to land the ministry of agriculture, or any portfolio in the new cabinet, events will have to take a more decided change in his favor than at present, judging from indications. While he is mentioned for the speakership of the house it is a position that will only be taken as a last resort.

Escaped Convict at Prince Albert is Still at Large

Prince Albert, Sask., July 30—Sol Foreman, the convict who made good his escape from the Prince Albert penitentiary last Saturday, is still at liberty in spite of a search of the country in detail and a circle of guards watching all likely avenues of escape. The last traces of him were between MacDowall and Duck Lake, where it was reported he tried to seize a horse and rig belonging to a Mrs. McLead who was berry-picking. She managed to reach the rig and drive away and reported the affair to the police. Since that time nothing has been heard of him.

Toronto, July 30—An order-in-council has been passed by the Ontario government appointing J. J. Kelso, provincial officer under the Adoption act of last session. The new law will enable foster parents to secure legal control of the child they have taken into their home, giving it full status with right of inheritance, etc.
